Senate Farm Bloc Attack In Both Houses Congress

REPEAL OF PRESIDENT'S POWER HIT

Iowa Republican Criticizes Action That Ties Hands Of Hoover Over Tariff

OFFER RESOLUTION

Nebraska Solon Would Reverse Supreme Court Decision in R. R. Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—The senate farm bloc was attacked in both houses of congress today.

Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, himself a farmer representative, criticized the senate's action in repealing the president's power to change tariff rates under the flexible provision and Senator Allen, Republican, Kansas, another westerner, arose to defend Minnesota editors who urged congress to pass a tariff bill quickly without cutting industrial rates.

The senate turned for a moment to consider the wide importance of the supreme court's O'Fallon railroad decision of last spring, and Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska, introduced a joint resolution which would in effect reverse the intention of congress that the interstate commerce commission's basis of rate making should be continued.

The supreme court held that the commission violated the Esch-Cummins transportation act by failing to take into consideration reproduction "new" factor of valuation.

Howell said this placed the responsibility squarely on congress to express its intent, and warned that aggregate rail valuations can be increased 43 per cent and rates to a point "as high as the traffic will bear," under the present situation.

FILM ACTRESS ON WAY TO NEW YORK

PARIS, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Kathryn Carver left Paris enroute to New York today, leaving behind her husband, Adolph Menjou, motion picture actor. Miss Carver denied that either she or her husband was contemplating divorce proceedings.

Menjou, only recently released from the American hospital, where he underwent an operation of appendicitis, accompanied his wife to the train and stated that he was going to Monte Carlo Monday to recuperate from his operation.

Carry Appeal To Supreme Court

LAMAR, Colo., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Attorneys for Ralph Fleagle, condemned leader of the bandit gang that led a murderous raid on the First National bank here, today planned to carry an appeal to the state supreme court.

Fleagle was sentenced to hang during the week of March 29 after his motion for a new trial was overruled by District Judge A. F. Hollenbeck late yesterday.

70-Year Old Bridegroom Near Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Little hope was held today by physicians that Seward Stephen Bates, 70, married Monday in his hospital bed to Mrs. Janette Comrie, 56, would live to enjoy the happiness of married life.

They were married Monday evening at the urgent request of Bates, who had been engaged to Mrs. Comrie for two and a half years, and who desired to have the ceremony performed before it was too late, when informed of the seriousness of his condition.

PROBE IS MADE INTO BLAZE AT PATHE STUDIO

Dropping of Bit of Carbon From Lamp to Film Is Cause of Tragedy

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—A tragic combination of circumstances, seemingly trivial when separated but fraught with horror in their entirety, emerged today as the background of the Pathe movie studio fire.

Four of the 10 who were crushed and burned to death in a wild scramble toward the exits were chorus girls—young dancers from Broadway musical shows who were seeking extra Christmas money by pinning in a gay sound picture of night club life.

In this setting of youth and abandon and tinsel, a tiny mishap—probably the spitting out by an arc light of a chip of incandescent carbon—proved the difference between life and death, between a day's work at the studio and New York's worst fire disaster of recent years.

Whether the arc light was actually the cause of the fire may never be known definitely, for the electrician who had charge of it lost his life. It was certain, however, that a bit of blowing carbon did fall from the lamp—and a minute later a great velvet drape at the rear of the stage was ablaze.

Fire officials were convinced many lives might have been saved if automatic sprinkler equipment

$5,000,000 FIRM FORMED IN NORTH

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—The Shell Building Corporation, Ltd., capitalized at $5,000,000 with headquarters in San Francisco, had articles of incorporation on file today with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The company proposed in its declaration of purpose to "purchase or construct buildings of all kinds, including airframes, hangars, office buildings, refineries and garages." This is understood to refer to the new office building to be erected by Shell Oil company in San Francisco.

Directors listed are Benjamin B. Logan and William E. Wright, San Francisco, and F. F. Thomas Jr., Donald S. Coyne and John B. Taylor Jr., of Berkeley.

DRILLERS FIND SKELETON OF MASTODON NEAR CAPISTRANO

CAPISTRANO BEACH, Dec. 11.—Discovery of a mastodon on top of the palisades at Capistrano Beach has attracted wide attention. The specimen, which is much larger than an elephant, is being excavated by the Petroleum Securities company and will be given as a gift to the Los Angeles museum.

Dr. W. A. Bryan, director of the museum, as a guest of E. L. Doheny, was here recently and inspected the huge skeleton, which is practically intact after being buried for 50,000 years.

The excavation work is being carried on under the supervision of Wesley L. Bliss, field paleontologist of the museum. The skeleton will be plastered to preserve it while being shipped and will be mounted with the other specimens of the pleistocene age in the museum.

U.S. OWNERSHIP RESOLUTION TO BE PRESENTED

Measure Vetoed by Coolidge Probably Will Be Passed This Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Off-stage arrangements have been quietly completed to put the Norris optional government ownership resolution through congress as soon as important matters pending are out of the way.

The plan for reviewing the nation's greatest power mills on the Tennessee river has been kicked about in Washington for 10 years. The same Norris resolution was passed by both houses of congress two years ago, but former President Coolidge spiked it by refusing his signature, a nullifying action which was upheld by the supreme court.

President Hoover is more kindly disposed toward the resolution according to information which has been passed along to the senate and house leaders by Mr. Hoover's friends, particularly Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee who meets almost daily with congressional Republicans.

In his message to the state of the Union at the opening of the congressional session President Hoover urged early action. He said he was opposed to government operation "except as an unavoidable by-product of some other major public purpose." He urged appointment of a commission to negotiate a lease.

The Norris resolution does not quite follow this recommendation but under the arrangement negotiated among the leaders, amendments may be adopted which will make it more pleasing to him. A third dam will be completed to aid development and the government would experiment with the manufacture of fertilizer under direction of a Muscle Shoals board.

PUPILS SUSPECTED IN TEACHER'S DEATH

ROCKFORD, Ill., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Bright eyed young fellows who learned to say "Te Amo" and "Je T'Aime" in the language classes Miss Cordelia E. Gummshelmer taught in the Rockford high school came into the category of suspects in her murder today.

One 20-year-old youth who has professed a fervent love for the pretty 35-year-old head of the languages department was under observation of authorities. Others will be brought into the case if he proves to have had no connection with the clubbing to death of Miss Gummshelmer in her apartment here last Saturday night.

All other clues have been fruitless.

Board of Review For New Woodmen Rates Suggested

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Members of the Modern Woodmen of America by almost unanimous vote favored the plan of John L. Sundeen, Minneapolis, for a board of review to study insurance rate revisions in their order after a meeting here yesterday.

Approximately 150 attended the meeting. On the vote, 92 favored following Sundeen's plan and only two opposed it.

Sundeen represents a faction in the lodge which realizes the need for an increase in rates but believes that the increase proposed by heads of the order is too large and an unjustified burden, especially on older members.

New Veterans Hospital For State Assured

Commander Murphy of D. A. V. Returns to Santa Ana After Long Trip

ANOTHER hospital in California for the care of injured and sick world war veterans has been assured by President Herbert Hoover, according to a declaration here today by William Murphy, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war, who has just returned to his home in Santa Ana from an extensive tour covering virtually every state in the union.

The national commander will remain here until after the Christmas holidays and is scheduled to return to Washington, D. C., immediately after January 1.

Pointing out that while absent he had a dozen conferences with President Hoover, Secretaries Akerson and Newton and Congressman Royal C. Johnson, chairman of the veterans committee in congress, Murphy said he had the assurance of these men as well as a majority of the members of congress that a 500-bed hospital would be allotted to California next year under the Rogers bill, which, he said, is certain of passage. It will be recalled that while president of the California D. A. V., last year, Murphy led the fight for additional facilities in California and other states for proper hospitalization of veterans.

Murphy also recommended during his term as state commander consolidation of the three veteran agencies in this country—the U. S. Veterans' bureau, the pension bureau and the National Old Soldiers homes, and he expressed his gratification today at the fact that President Hoover had recommended to congress that this be done. Murphy said that, in his opinion, consolidation of the agencies would save the government some $20,000,000 annually, besides increasing the efficiency and expediting of veteran relief.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR LINDBERGH PLANE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—The feminine influence was noted today in the sturdy Curtiss Falcon biplane used by Charles A. Lindbergh in his extensive travels. Mrs. Lindbergh accompanies him on many trips. Attached at Bolling field, where the plane has been quartered since Lindbergh's arrival here yesterday, report the following improvements:

The plain military type passenger cockpit has been reupholstered and better protection provided from the wind stream.

The exhaust pipes have been altered so the gases are carried behind the passenger before being released.

An additional step has been provided for the passenger cockpit.

Lindbergh attended a lecture here last night. He made no statement regarding his immediate plans.

Smoke, Sulphur Fumes Discharged From Mount Etna

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Mount Etna renewed activity today, discharging an abundance of smoke and sulphur fumes through its main opening.

The activity was accompanied by deep rumblings although neither the tremors or other phenomena indicated any alarming disturbance.

GREATER S. A. BODY TO NAME ITS SECRETARY

Meeting Scheduled for Late Today Will Elect Permanent Officers

SELECTION of a permanent secretary for the Greater Santa Ana association was expected to be made at a meeting of the executive committee scheduled for 4:30 p. m., today, at association headquarters, 113-15 North Main street.

According to Jules Markel, a number of applications for the position have been filed with William Tway, temporary secretary. The president emphasized the fact that the management of the campaign would not be combined with the secretaryship, pointing out that direction of the campaign against the recall of the city council members would be retained largely by the executive committee.

There was some discussion today of the possibility of the circulation among signers of the recall petition asking removal of their names from the recall.

City Attorney Charles Swanner expressed the opinion today that such a petition would be ineffective and he was in doubt as to whether names could be withdrawn at all after filing of the petition with the city clerk.

Upon advice of the attorney, City Clerk Vegely is taking the names and addresses of those who ask that their names be withdrawn from the recall document. He is not permitting them to scratch their names as it was originally anticipated he would. The clerk has accumulated a list of 32 signers who have requested withdrawal of their names.

THREE REPORTERS RELEASED FROM JAIL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Three reporters who preferred jail to naming the source of confidential information contained in certain news stories they wrote, were at liberty here today after serving 40 days of a 45-day sentence for contempt of court.

The three, Linton Burckett, Norman M. Hendricks and Jack Novin Jr., of the Washington Times, were released shortly after midnight last night. They had had five days clipped from their sentence for good behavior, on recommendation of Lieutenant Colonel William Peak, superintendent of the District of Columbia jail.

IMMEDIATE TRIAL SOUGHT FOR VERNON

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Immediate trial will be asked for Tom Vernon, former cowboy and ex-convict, charged with wrecking a Southern Pacific train near Saugus, Calif., and robbing passengers.

District Attorney Buron Fitts said today his office will ask the death penalty.

Vernon, who was arrested in Oklahoma, confessed to the California wreck and robbery but denied he committed a similar crime near Cheyenne, Wyo.

SUGGEST LOW CABLE RATES AS MOVE FOR WORLD PEACE

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Lower cable rates between the Pacific coast and the Orient as a means of promoting international peace was one of the suggestions advanced at the institute of international relations, in session here.

"Cable and wireless news is highly effective in creating a friendly understanding between nations," said V. S. McClatchie, Sacramento newspaper publisher and member of the Pacific Coast Immigration association.

Pool Hall Is Robbed Of Big Sum In Night

Large Amount of Money On Hand Due to Pay Day In Local Oil Fields

SAFE ROBBERS who fail to allow a little thing like being unable to open a safe door deter them from their profession, stole $2200 in checks and currency from the Oke Pool hall, at La Habra, sometime last night, but not until after they had taken the safe too.

Deputy sheriffs, investigating the burglary of the pool hall this morning reported that efforts were made to open the door of the safe while the thieves were inside the building, but failing, they pushed it to a rear window, and with the aid of 2x4 boards, raised it through the window and made off with it in a truck.

The safe contained $700 in cash and $1500 in checks cashed for oil workers yesterday.

Entrance into the pool hall was made after a wire screen had been cut from the outside and a window pushed up. Tire tracks were found outside the window, indicating the manner in which the safe was carried away.

Officers said the safe weighed approximately 600 pounds, but said they were unable to tell how many men aided in taking it from the store.

COURT THREATENS ARREST OF HEIRESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Unless Mrs. Mary Gesford Lott, 78, missing San Francisco heiress, appears in superior court Friday at a hearing involving her guardianship, a warrant will be issued to compel her attendance.

This was the substance of a statement by Judge James J. Conlan at a hearing yesterday at which the aged woman failed to appear.

Mrs. Lott disappeared following a Thanksgiving day dinner at the home of Frank Golden, Los Angeles attorney, recently accused by the heiress of withholding funds from her estate.

Miss Louisa J. Gesford, a sister of Mrs. Lott, is seeking to establish guardianship over her, claiming she is incompetent.

Attorneys representing other relatives are seeking to prevent issuance of the warrant, claiming that the local court has no jurisdiction in the case.

Leaves Estate Of $16,000 To Unknown Girl

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—(UP)—If the woman with golden hair who refused to marry James K. Johnson will communicate with the probate court here she may learn something to her advantage.

Johnson died at the Soldiers' home in Sawtelle recently, leaving property worth $16,000 to the woman whose name he could not recall.

"She has golden hair and she wouldn't marry me because she is my cousin," the dying man told his attorney, "but I can't remember her name."

PEACE REIGNS OVER HAITI AS PRISONERS OUT

Marine Reinforcements Are Diverted and Leaders Of Revolt Quiet

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Release of 98 political prisoners, including 26 arrested as instigators of the street riots last week, coupled with word that marine reinforcements en route here had been diverted to Guantanamo Bay caused great rejoicing throughout Haiti today and served to dispel considerably fear of further bloodshed in political revolt.

With only a few prisoners remaining in confinement and with influential business leaders insisting that the disorders were ended, the prospect of lifting of martial law which was declared last Wednesday was widely urged by native leaders.

Even the opponents of the administration of President Louis Borno, against whom last week's revolt was directed, showed a willingness to accept peace, assuring the United Press correspondent that they would welcome a marine supervised election such as was held in Nicaragua and Santo Domingo.

WATERWAY PROJECT SUCCESS PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Ultimate realization of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway project was predicted by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, before the final session of the rivers and harbors congress here today.

Referring to opposition to the project on the part of the New York state, Walsh declared that "if the more or less heated controversy that engaged attention in the state over the question of private or public development of water power is not all shadow-boxing, its representatives in congress will unite with those from other lake states and the northwest in promoting speedy negotiation of the necessary treaty with Canada."

GOVERNOR FISHER NAMES SUCCESSOR TO VARE TODAY

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Governor Fisher will appoint a member of the United States senate from Pennsylvania to succeed William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, sometime late today.

Close friends of Governor Fisher continue to insist that Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, would be named to succeed Vare.

Governor Fisher himself admitted that his mind was made up, but that he did not want to make an announcement until everything was in readiness.

ONE GUARD KILLED AND 15 ARE HELD

Auburn Penitentiary Warden Among Those Held Prisoners By Convicts

TROOPS CALLED OUT

Tear Bombs Being Used In Effort to Quell Rioters and Restore Peace

BULLETIN

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Warden Edgar S. Jennings and 12 Auburn prison guards who had been held in the north cell block as hostages in a general jail break, were released soon after 3 p. m. today.

Warden Jennings was slightly injured. The release was made after beleaguered convicts had been subdued with gas bombs.

Homer Thompson, confidential clerk at the prison, told the United Press that at approximately 3:15 p. m. city police, state troopers and a few guards attacked the north cell block where the prisoners were under seige. They threw in tear gas bombs and the prisoners retreated farther into the cell block. The officers dashed in and rescued Warden Jennings, who had been overcome by the gas, and several of the guards. The rescued guards were sent to the city hospital.

AUBURN PENITENTIARY, N. Y., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Rioting broke out at Auburn penitentiary here today.

At noon one guard had been killed, the warden, Edgar Jennings, was held captive by prisoners, and the rioters were threatening to take his life.

George Danforth, the principal keeper, was the man killed. Seven, or possibly eight guards in addition to the warden were held captive by the rioting convicts.

The trouble began in one of the prison halls when convicts were armed, overpowered eight guards, shot Danforth fatally and, when the warden came to take charge, made him captive along with the guards they had overpowered.

They then retreated to a rear section of the prison where they stood seige, threatening to kill their hostages, if they were not released.

Forty-one Auburn police were sent to the prison to help quell the outbreak, and state police were called in from all outlying stations (Continued on Page 2)

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is the weak, not the strong, who are consoled, aggressive, self-righteous and domineering. The real man can afford to wait to give of his influence and support where it counts without demanding any glory, and to be quietly independent of other people's praise or blame, because he has an inner standard to which he holds true. His joy and satisfaction do not depend upon being constantly seen and recognized and deferred to.

Think not that you are weak because you do not shout from the housetops that your shoulders ache with the burden of sorrow which you bear. Go bravely on and men will reverence and rejoice in what you are becoming.

GENERAL PET FILES ACTION FOR INJUNCTION

Asking an injunction against the use of property under lease to it for the sale of any other gasoline or oil and against the use of any signs or advertising matter or colors on the property other than its own, the General Petroleum Corporation of California yesterday filed a complaint against R. A. Mosher, et al, in superior court.

The complaint alleges that under a lease drawn May 24, 1928, it is entitled to the sole possession of the premises occupied by a service station operated by Mosher adjacent to the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad and its products and advertising are to be used exclusively thereon. It also alleges that on Sept. 13, 1929, Mosher caused or permitted certain signs and colors on buildings and structures on the property, displacing those of the plaintiff, and that in certain tanks on the property another brand of gasoline was placed for sale to the public. It also alleges that the defendants have refused to comply with requests to remove said signs and gasoline from the premises which it claims to control under the lease.

The action is characterized as interference with the plaintiff's business and an unlawful invasion of rights and leasehold and the plaintiff further claims that the defendants have destroyed and will continue to destroy its property unless restrained by court order.

The lease, a copy of which is attached to the complaint, is scheduled to run until July 1, 1935, and provides payment by the General Petroleum corporation at the rate of $5 per month and one cent for each gallon of gasoline sold from the property during the month.

ORANGE POLICE SEEK MYSTERY ASSAILANT

The identity of the man who slugged Oscar Stanfield, Orange garageman, remained a mystery today as police officers continued their investigation into the mysterious affair.

Stanfield was struck from behind with a pair of brass knuckles as he and his partner, Floyd W. Parsons, were locking the doors of their garages.

A woman who witnessed the attack told Chief of Police Richards in Orange this morning that the assailant had followed her for some distance and that she was planning to ask Stanfield and Parsons for protection when the man slugged Stanfield.

The assailant fled down Maple avenue in Orange.

COURT ASKED TO DETERMINE BENEFICIARY OF INSURANCE

The difficulties of the Messerall family seem to be legion. The mother, Jennie Messerall, and two daughters, Alice and Eva, were named defendants in an action filed yesterday by an insurance company, asking that the court determine to whom it should pay a life insurance policy, which the sisters and the mother are claiming. Last week a suit was filed by a number of the children against Jennie Messerall and Jefferson Messerall, alleging that they were entitled to a division of the estate of their grandmother, which, they said, was being appropriated by the mother.

The Great Republic Life Insurance company is the plaintiff in the action filed yesterday over the payment of the insurance policy. The complaint alleges that Raymond E. Messerall took out a policy for $10,000 on Jan. 12, 1926, and named the two sisters as beneficiaries therein. On July 27, 1929, it is set forth, he changed the beneficiary to his mother, Jennie Messerall. Upon his death, on Oct. 16, 1929, the complaint recites that the mother filed a claimant's notice and demanded payment of the policy. At the same time the insurance company declares that the sisters filed a notice that they still were the beneficiaries and that the change had been secured by fraud by undue influence and that any payment other than to them would be at the peril of the insurance company.

The complaint asks that the defendants be restrained by the court from any proceedings against the plaintiff, that the defendants be required to litigate among themselves to determine to whom the policy should be paid and that the plaintiff be permitted to pay the amount to the court and be discharged from its obligation in the matter.

'HOLDUP' PROVES TO BE JUST ARGUMENT

Rushing to Buena Park, early this morning, when they received a report that a holdup was being staged there, Deputy Sheriffs George Boyd and Harry Carter found two Japanese farmers arguing in the road.

One of them had taken all the money the other had, officers reported. They were partners and the larger one had failed to split the earnings from a bean crop with the smaller one, it was reported.

"Me talk like hell, but me no fight," the smaller one told the officers when they arrived. The deputies told the Japanese that it was none of their affair how the money was split, or whether it was, and returned to the office.

The boys were rounded up, lectured on how hard the ground was and the danger their lives were in and told to go home. Their names were taken with an idea of notifying their parents.

CONFER TODAY ON DAMAGES IN SUBWAY ACTION

Col. S. H. Finley was in Los Angeles today as the representative of East Fourth street property owners in a conference on damages that may accrue to property by building of the proposed subway on East Fourth street under the tracks of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railway companies.

Finley, E. P. McAuliffe, engineer of the railroad commission, and a representative of the railroads, compose the conference body. The three men will attempt to reach an agreement on the damages to property that will be directly affected and their findings will be submitted to Railroad Commissioner Leon Whitesell when he comes here to continue the hearing on the application of the city of Santa Ana for permission to make the improvement. The commissioner already has conducted two hearings here and a continuance was made in order to give opportunity to the conference group to adjudge the damage.

It is possible that Whitesell will be here within two weeks to complete the hearing.

DECIDE OWNER SHOULD BE PAID FOR ANIMALS

Routine matters of business almost exclusively occupied the attention of members of the county board of supervisors at the regular meeting yesterday. An unusually large number of claims was allowed, caused by the warrants for the men drafted to fight the recent fires near Brea.

The dead horse and mule case again came in for consideration and the board heard the testimony of Dr. Wilkins, county veterinarian and humane officer, that he had condemned the two animals in question and ordered L. C. Goodrich to have them killed. It was the opinion of the board members that the county should reimburse Goodrich for his court costs and costs of hauling the animals to Norwalk, where they were sold to a dog food plant.

The board approved plans for the Buena Park fire district and ordered the district attorney to prepare a resolution establishing the same. Licenses for the establishment of new pool rooms in Atwood, Bolsa, El Modena and Richfield, and transfers of licenses for pool rooms in Delhi and Los Alamitos were granted by the board. Dance hall permits were issued for halls in Sunset Beach and Delhi.

BREAKFASTERS TO ELECT DIRECTORS

Guy Gilbert, president of the Santa Ana Breakfast club, today reminded members of the organization that a board of directors is to be elected at the meeting tomorrow morning.

The nominating committee has prepared a list of 18 names, from which nine are to be chosen as directors. Directors elect the officers of the club, Gilbert pointed out.

Jack Rantz, resident manager for the Fox theaters, will be program chairman, and it is announced that he has arranged some good entertainment. Among the entertainers will be Reginald Taylor, well known vocalist, of Anaheim, and Miss Kathryn Kilbourne, violinist, of this city.

Break Ground for Midway City Block

Ground will be broken Saturday at 1 o'clock for the new community building at Midway City. It was announced today. The monoplane in which Vern Speich, local flyer, established a non-refueling, solo endurance record recently, will fly over the site and John Harper, founder of Midway City, who donated the lot, will drop the deed to the property.

Citizens of Midway City will be on hand with shovels. There will be speakers and community singing.

The lot is 38 by 76 feet. Material and labor for the structure are being donated by Midway City firms and individuals.

ALL WELFARE ORGANIZATIONS INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN CHRISTMAS CHEER PROGRAM

All welfare organizations, churches and fraternal bodies in Santa Ana planning to provide Christmas cheer for the less fortunate citizens of the community this year have been invited to work through the recently organized Community Christmas Co-operative Committee as a result of plans made and decisions reached at a meeting of that committee yesterday afternoon in the offices of the Santa Ana Community Chest.

Individuals also are invited to co-operate with the committee. It was announced by R. R. Miller, secretary-manager of the Chest and member of the committee.

The idea was to assure adequate attention for all needy families and to avoid duplication of effort. All organizations and individuals who are planning to participate in dispensing Christmas cheer are requested to submit, not later than noon Friday, December 20, the names of the persons they propose to assist. The importance of getting the names in as soon as possible was stressed by the committee, as it plans to make a careful check of all lists to be sure that every family is cared for and that none receives more than enough through duplication of gifts.

The committee will not function in dispensing any donations or gifts, but merely will serve in an advisory capacity to see that all worthy families are aided. The committee expects to have available a list of names for those who would like to know of someone they can aid at Christmas time. All names turned in will be investigated by trained social workers, it was stated, to see if they are worthy of Christmas assistance.

The body, which was organized last Friday at the suggestion of Miller, is composed of Mrs. Fannie Winterbourne, of the Goodwill Industries; Capt. H. Morton, of the Salvation Army; Walter Gregg, county aid commissioner, and the Chest official.

NEW WELL IS AUTHORIZED ADDED TO CITY SWITCHBOARD WATER SYSTEM IN COURTHOUSE

A new well had been added today to the municipal water system by the institution of pumping on the well just completed at 813 West Walnut.

As a result of the first pumping 1500 inches of water was flowing along the gutter on West Walnut to Bristol street and then south to dissipating points. According to City Engineer Clyde Jenken, it may take two days of pumping to clear the well of mud. When the water clears it will be diverted to the reservoir on First street.

The well was bored to a depth of 1200 feet and cost the city approximately $11,000. It is expected that under forced pumping the well will produce 1800 inches per minute, giving the city an important additional supply.

The engineer pointed out that the new production would insure a full supply of water for the city for another year, at least, and probably two years.

Starting with a 26-inch casing, the hole was reduced to 16 inches at 250 feet, with the same size continuing to the bottom.

SEEKS $1486 IN AUTO CRASH SUIT

A damage suit, asking judgment for a total of $1486, was filed in superior court yesterday afternoon by Thomas H. Mock against Joe Sansaninas.

The complaint alleged that through the reckless, careless and negligent operation of a car by the defendant, a collision occurred on Whittier boulevard, near La Habra, at 11 o'clock on the morning of December 25, last year, in which the plaintiff's car was totally destroyed and he suffered severe bruises and lacerations.

Damages are itemized as $600 for loss of car, $20 for towing charges, $15 for hospital and ambulance charges, $1 for repair to clothing torn in the wreck, $500 personal damages and $350 for loss of use of the car.

DAUGHTERS OF VETS SELECT NEW OFFICERS

Interesting reports and an election of officers were features at the meeting, yesterday afternoon, of the Daughters of Union Civil War Veterans, which convened in the Knights of Pythias hall. Of the 19 officers in the organization, 17 were present.

Among the visitors yesterday was Commander E. J. Parker, of the Sons of Union Veterans. He invited the women to hold a joint installation with the Sons some time in January and the suggestion was accepted. He also announced that the Southern California East Commanders' organization would meet in Santa Ana early in March and the D. U. V. women decided to serve dinner to the group.

On January 13, an American flag will be presented the Y. W. C. A., for its new headquarters, by the Daughters.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were Miss Minnie Cowan, president; Mrs. Harriet Mitchell, senior vice president; Miss Gladys Van Hise, junior vice president; Mrs. Geraldine Deal, chairman; Mrs. Lucia Hill, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Helen McArthur, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Moore, first counsel; Mrs. Lydia Phips, second counsel, and Mrs. Jessie Hoagland, third.

AUXILIARIES PLAN PARTY ON DEC. 22

BUENA PARK, Dec. 11.—The Buena Park American Legion auxiliary was entertained in the home of a former president, Mrs. Bessie Bosanko, in Brea Monday evening yesterday.

Announcement was made of a Christmas party which the Orange county auxiliaries will give for the disabled veterans at the San Fernando hospital December 22. Donations of nuts, raisins, oranges, candy, apples and real and artificial poinsettias are asked to be left at the local post office, or at the home of Mrs. Nita West on West Ninth street. The local auxiliary made a $10 pledge, the money to be given to the veterans who have not received compensation.

Mrs. Bosanko was presented with a past president's pin. Following the business session, Mrs. Edna Craig, mother of the hostess, entertained with a group of readings in Negro dialect, and during the social hour light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Nita West, Mrs. Anna McKenzie, Mrs. Helen Ellmore, Mrs. Edna Jaynes and Mrs. Audrey Parker attended the county council meeting held in La Habra Tuesday.

GET PRISON TERMS ON CHECK CHARGES

Two men were sentenced to terms of from one to 14 years in San Quentin, yesterday afternoon, by Judge James L. Allen, of superior court department two.

The prisoners, Texas Greer and T. P. Davenport, previously had entered pleas of guilty to charges of issuing checks with intent to defraud.

Greer, in answering questions of the court, asserted that the checks he had passed and others found on his person at the time of his arrest were given to him in Texas by a man named Walker as repayment of a favor he had done Walker.

Plans far in excess of those previously considered should be undertaken due to the rapid growth of the city in the past 10 years, according to the committee's report. The extensive building campaign in Fullerton was the subject for comments by members of the committee. The fact that a great many of the new homes are being built in the hill section was pointed to as an important factor for consideration in connection with water system plans for the future.

PLAN MEASURE MODELED AFTER S. A. ORDINANCE

ORANGE, Dec. 11.—An attempt to frame a wine tonic ordinance to meet with the approval of all of the city councilmen resulted in the shelving of a tentative ordinance prepared and presented by the city attorney, H. L. Dearing, at an adjourned meeting of the council yesterday afternoon.

Dearing said he had patterned the ordinance after the ones passed in the cities of Santa Ana and Riverside, rather than after the Los Angeles ordinance. The tentative ordinance included a clause added by Dearing, by which purchasers of wine tonics would have to register the date and their names with a druggist when the sale was made.

Councilman Shoemaker, who made the original motion that the city attorney be instructed to prepare an ordinance patterned after the Los Angeles wine tonic ordinance, declared he preferred the Los Angeles measure and this was the reason he had proposed that the Orange council follow it in drafting regulations for wine tonic sales in this city.

Councilman Wood suggested that a physician's prescription be made necessary for procuring wine tonics. Mayor Ross Miller declared that the ordinance was a deep matter. Following a prolonged discussion of the properties of the solids which are to be added to the tonics by a federal act, the matter was held over until the next meeting of the council, January 7.

The L. D. Coffing company, Santa Ana, was awarded the contract for supplying the city water department with a one-ton truck on a bid of $1175. The contract was awarded after a secret ballot had been taken.

Councilman L. H. Intorf announced that plans for setting a limit to water consumers outside of the city limits had been outlined at a recent meeting of the water committee. It had been suggested, he said, to make the limit at a point 1000 feet from the city limits in all directions. Deposits and water rates are to be doubled to outside consumers.

Rubbish and garbage collections were discussed at length Tuesday evening, choosing for his topic "The Geographical Progress of Civilization," stressing the conservation of water as the big problem of the Pacific coast today. He substituted for L. E. Plummer, principal of the Fullerton union high school, who was the scheduled speaker.

Conservation Of Water Subject At Kiwanis Meeting

BUENA PARK, Dec. 11.—S. C. Hartman, of Fullerton, was the speaker at the meeting of the Buena Park Kiwanis club Tuesday evening, choosing for his topic "The Geographical Progress of Civilization," stressing the conservation of water as the big problem of the Pacific coast today. Announcement was made by the president, Richard Nelson, that the meeting of December 24 would be for members to call and register, and on December 31, would be a pot luck dinner, with the men serving and as cooks.

RURBAN HEIGHTS—THE PICTURE HANGER

Radio

Musical History Will Be Reviewed By Standard Hour

Reviewing music history, the fifteenth elementary and advanced Standard School broadcasts will be heard through stations of the NBC system, including KFI, between 11 and 11:45 tomorrow morning.

Trumpet and trombone players will assist the Arlon Trio in presenting the musical illustrations for the lessons prepared by Arthur S. Garbett, NBC educational director. Medieval music, represented by an old German "Minne-lied," and the more modern themes of Ippolitov-Ivanov's "March of the Sardar" are among the examples for the elementary lecture.

Wagner and Halvorsen compositions, chosen from the Standard Symphony Hour program for the night of December 12, form part of the advanced illustrations.

SHOW BOAT HOUR COMING OVER KHJ

Hank Simmons Show Boat, one of the East's six most popular weekly programs, comes to Los Angeles and KHJ for the first time tonight, 8 to 9 o'clock. This is a series of time mellowed melodramas which have been dusted off and tailored to radio size. Each week, the air audience is taken aboard the show boat, Maybelle, where Hank Simmons and his amphibian thespians unfold for our amazement and delight good old draymer with plenty of action, blood, sobs and laughs.

Hank Simmons and his gay troupe aboard the Show Boat Maybelle tonight will offer Jerold Shepard's "The Senator's Daughter," a four-act comedy drama. "The Senator's Daughter" has to do with the comical and tragic situations arising in a senator's family in Washington, D. C. some years ago. The presentation is plentifully sprinkled with excitement, romance, and pathos. There is a duel between two of the principals which offers one of the many high spots in the drama.

Statistics gathered by O. J. Hawley, Atwater Kent Dealer in Santa Ana, reveal that approximately 60 out of every 100 homes in Southern California are equipped with radio receivers. And that information leads us to suspect that by Christmas the Southland will lead the entire United States in sectional radio sales. Hawley's figures also show that Atwater Kent, since introduction of its screen grid Model, has smashed all its previous sales records on the Pacific coast. Sweeping price reductions aided materially, too, in establishing the new mark. Hawley points out—judging from the pre-holiday sales, Hawley declares, a "Radio-Christmas" will be enjoyed by a great many families in Santa Ana and Orange county.

General Bidwell was a man who did a great many good deeds. He bequeathed many thousands of acres to the public. A good deal of tonight's radio dramatization is built around his home in Chico, where his name is immortalized.

OUR HOME AT BERLIN

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—A former private home of Dr. Von Bleichroder, scientist and bachelor, has been leased by the U. S. as its chancery at the German capital. It is planned, however, to unite this division with the military and naval attaches, the consul general and commercial attaches in one building. Bluecher Palace is thought of, and if taken, will cost about $2,000,000.

Pleasant Relief From Constipation

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure. Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been present in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous gripping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you. Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 50c, 60c.—Adv.

HOOKS and SLIDES

William Braucher

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Los Angeles had a benefit for Dixie Kid, the famous old colored battler, the other night... Frankie Campbell was among the ringsters who actually donated their services... Rockne wrote to 60 former Notre Dame players a year ago to get their reactions on their football days... Only one reported he had not enjoyed playing and never looked back wistfully at the stirring games in which he took part... Dan O'Leary, 50, is still walking around out on the coast... Major Sasse, who succeeds Biff Jones as Army coach, points out that the Notre Dame team this year wins the championship for playing in different climates anyway... They played Georgia Tech on a warm day in Atlanta, met Northwestern on a windy, disagreeable afternoon in Evanston and beat a hard-boiled Army team on one of the coldest days that ever swept down on New York from Medicine Hat.

SINGING OF DEFEAT

Robert Zupke, who directs the football destinies of the University of Illinois and usually manages to direct the team to a pretty high spot, dislikes among other things the "good loser." Zupke has been the speaker at several football banquets lately, and some of the views he expresses are interesting enough. "Show me a team of singers about a defeat and I'll show you a team of punks," says he. "I detest a good loser. I want bad losers. When my men get licked, I want them to be so cut up and so worried so much they'll make up their minds never to have that terrible feeling again."

SOUTH NEVER LICKED

"Look at the south. The reason those southerners are so tough to down is because they don't know when they are licked. Travel around with any of them and you will find that they are still fighting over that war between the states. And so enthusiastic are they that I for one don't want to fight it over with them."

"I never go to the Army-Notre Dame game that they call the football style show. I prefer to read about it in the papers because of the Irish eloquence in the papers whenever Notre Dame plays. Writers use a lot of hokey. They have to, to fill their columns. That's why a lot of Irish have those jobs. They have imaginations. They're the same writers I. Patrick chased out of Ireland along with the snakes."

BIG TEN SUPREMACY

"And the Irish really hit high when Notre Dame plays. The Big Ten is nothing. Only a part of the country surrounded by the United States. The largest schools, on the average, will produce the best football teams, year in and year out. And you will find those teams in the Big Ten."

"Football style! Style won't win football games. It takes hard running, hard blocking and plenty of courage to win games."

"The Big Ten is the anchor of American football. Football owes a lot to Yale and Harvard but more to the Big Ten, which was the only organization that didn't break up during the World War. I guess it was bigger than the war."

"They say Notre Dame built up football. Notre Dame didn't build up football. Good roads and Henry Ford—automobiles, transportation—helped build up the game to what it is now."

"The forward pass! They say Notre Dame invented it. Yeah, Notre Dame invented it 7 years after 70,000 had been completed. In the meantime the Big Ten invented and specialized on the incomplete pass. And this year's Illinois team has

Lemon, Forbes Again Box To 10-Round Draw

CONTEST LACKS SENSATIONS OF FIRST MEETING

BY RINGSIDER

Two awkward but willing welterweights, Romeo Lemon and Frankie Forbes, fought another 10-round draw at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

The contest lacked the sensations of the boxers' first meeting two weeks ago when Forbes knocked Lemon down five times in the first six rounds and Lemon floored Forbes just as many times in the last four.

There was only one knockdown this time. Forbes hooked Lemon with a snappy left to the chin early in the second stanza and the Fullerton fellow dropped to his knees but he was up without a count and resumed the chase with such fury that he even earned a shade in the round.

Rivers is Referee

Joe Rivers, one time contender for the world's lightweight championship, was the third man in the ring. He spent a busy evening with the wild-swinging fighters, neither of whom showed anything other than a lot of courage and willingness. Lemon was the more aggressive but most of his efforts were long, sidearm swings that usually missed the target or short rights by which he used his glove as a club and hacked at Forbes like he was chopping wood.

Ringsider gave Forbes four rounds but only one, the eighth, by a wide margin. Lemon won four rounds by a shade and one other a clear margin, the tenth. Virtually every heat was close.

Jimmy Piela won a decision over Baby Jack Dempsey in the best bout of the evening. It was a clever boxing match with Piela always ahead on points. Dempsey rallied in the fourth but Piela came right back and won the fifth and sixth by substantial margins.

Gill Kayoes O'Brien

Hi Gill, Santa Ana middleweight, outclassed "Bucky" O'Brien in the special event which Referee Rivers stopped in the fourth to save O'Brien further punishment. O'Brien showed absolutely nothing but gameness. He was down for a short count in the first and down again in the fourth before Rivers halted it. Gill pumped them into O'Brien's mid-section and "Bucky" didn't like 'em down there.

Johnny Christmas, colored, proved to be a great sprinter in his bout with Urban Hernandez. Christmas fought like one possessed for the first 10 seconds of every round and then quit cold. Hernandez hammered him all over the place without a return and won the easiest kind of a decision. Christmas was out on his feet at the end of every round.

They reached into the grab-bag and pulled out old Toby Montoya, one-time Delhi main-eventer, for the curtain-raiser. Hog-fat and slower than "Truck" Hannah, Montoya was a cinch for Henry Inlowe who didn't look any too good himself. Inlowe stopped Montoya in the first round.

Valley Frazee, one of the greatest heavyweight prospects in the Southland, meets Joe Bitto in next week's main event.

Jeff Cravath Returns For Home Visit

Newell (Jeff) Cravath, former Santa Ana and University of Southern California football star, has returned from Denver, Colo., where he enjoyed a successful season as head coach of the Denver university squad.

He will spend the holidays here and in Los Angeles before returning to Denver to resume duties on his three-year contract.

Cravath's Denver eleven was defeated only once this season and then by a questionable decision on a dropkick that many impartial observers thought missed the mark.

PHILS ACQUIRE ALEXANDER IN CARDINAL DEAL

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—Grover Cleveland Alexander is coming back to the Philadelphia National league club. This was the announcement received here today from G. P. Nugent, secretary of the Phillies ball club, now in New York.

The trade announced by Nugent says that Bob McGraw, pitcher, and Homer Peel, utility outfielder, of the Phillies are going to St. Louis in exchange for Alexander and Harry McCurdy, catcher.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The "lively ball" controversy has been brought up again at the annual meetings of the National and American leagues here.

National league magnates devoted much of their opening day's session yesterday to the present ball, and the majority agreed that it is "perhaps too fast."

John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and Wilbert Robinson, Brooklyn manager, were among those who thought the present ball too lively.

Broke All Records

The National league broke all its home run records last season with 755, an increase of 145 over the 1928 season. Philadelphia led with 164 homers.

When the umpires began to rub the gloss off the ball in mid-season the result was a 45 per cent decrease in home runs during the last half of the season.

President Heydler believes that by commencing the practice of rubbing the gloss off the ball at the beginning of the season this practice will tend to reduce home run hitting and big scores.

Lack of trading at the meetings may be traced to the scarcity of surplus players among major league clubs, in the opinion of many baseball men.

Cleveland After Morris

Cleveland made an effort to obtain Pitcher Ed Morris from the Boston Red Sox, but its offer of Pitcher Joe Shaute and $500,000 was turned down.

The New York Yankees were still dicker for Morris today, but with no apparent success.

Hughie Critz, Cincinnati second baseman, has been placed on the trading market, but his price tag appears to be a bit too high for the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates.

There was an indication today that progress may be made soon toward untangling the Brooklyn situation, where the owners are split 50-50 over retaining Wilbert Robinson as president and manager.

OREGON STATE COLLEGE

Corvallis, Ore., Dec. 11.—An All-Coast conference mythical football team has been named by 10 conference quarterbacks. The result of the votes of the quarterbacks was compiled by the Athletic news bureau here.

It resulted as follows: Ends, Tappan, U. S. C., and Muller, Stanford; tackles, Schweigler, Washington, and Colbert, Oregon; guards, Schwartz California, Shields, Oregon, and Hansen, W. S. C. (three way tie); center, Heinicke, Stanford; quarter, Saunders, U. S. C.; halfbacks, Hufford, Washington, Lom, California; fullback, Schwarz, W. S. C.

HERMAN, AVELINO DRAW

FRESNO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Kid Avelino, 121 pounds, San Francisco Filipino, and Checkie Herman, 122, San Bernardino, went 10 furious rounds to a draw here last night.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . . . . BY LAUFER

PROMOTERS IN QUANDARY OVER HEAVYWEIGHTS

By DIXON STEWART

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—As an elimination bout Monday's meeting of Phil Scott and Otto Von Porat was a complete success.

The foul blow which ended the bout after one minute and 25 seconds of the second round not only eliminated both principals from consideration as contenders for Gene Tunney's vacated championship but appears to have eliminated the two feature heavyweight attractions planned for the winter.

Jack Sharkey, Boston's talkative tar, and Max Schmeling, German champion, are now the only prominent contenders for the championship. A match between Sharkey and Schmeling appears to be the only "natural" in the heavyweight division and prospects of such a bout are dubious.

Madison Square Garden corporation holds an exclusive contract to Sharkey's services and had planned to use the winner of Monday night's bout as an opponent for Sharkey in the annual feature bout at Miami Beach early next year.

Schmeling is at war with the Garden and has signed with an "outlaw" group to fight an unlocated opponent at Atlantic City February 22. The Atlantic City promoters hoped to secure either Sharkey or the Scott-Von Porat winner as the other principal.

As a result of the unsatisfactory result of the "elimination" fight, both the Atlantic City group and Madison Square Garden are at a loss for heavyweights to complete their bouts.

Sharkey's three-year contract with the Garden expires in February and failure to stage the Miami show probably would result in the Garden losing the Bostonian's services. In this event, the Atlantic City promoters would hold the whip hand and might be able to secure Sharkey as an opponent for Schmeling.

Santa Barbara May Forfeit To Hares

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—With most of the regular players ill with influenza, the Santa Barbara Golden Tornadoes may be unable to meet Long Beach Saturday for the Southern California prep football championship.

Long Beach officials are reported to have refused to postpone the game and it appeared today as if Santa Barbara would be compelled to forfeit the championship to the beach city.

Ralph Greenleaf Makes Carom To Win Cue Contest

DETROIT, Dec. 11.—After a three-hour struggle, Ralph Greenleaf, former world's champion, won his first start in the world's championship tournament at the Recreation building yesterday. Greenleaf defeated Spencer Livsey, Los Angeles, in a duel of safety and scratches, an unfinished run of 20 ending the game. The final score was Greenleaf 125, Livsey 105, in 40 innings.

The crisis of the game came in the 40th inning. Livsey had made a deliberate scratch and left Greenleaf an almost impossible shot. Greenleaf, after much deliberation, sent his cue ball to the cushion, caught the seven ball on the carom and took the point. Livsey proved to be a keen shotmaker, a brilliant strategist.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Like the chappie who hit himself on the head with a hammer because it felt so good when he stopped, the major league "farm" or "chain-store" operator cannot long survive without one thing or the other. His immediate need is education, if he doesn't recognize this, his future need is bound to be a new head. The baseball "chain-store" system is a menace to nobody, except the man who operates it, and to him, it is business suicide.

This, in substance, was the message to baseball of President E. S. Barnard, of the American league, as the two majors went into furious session again today. They had found nothing to do yesterday, so they decided they needed a little extra time this afternoon in which to finish the job in a thoroughly competent manner.

Warning Due Tomorrow

Tomorrow, however, they are to indulge in their annual joint session and it is then that Mr. Barnard may deliver himself of the doomsday warning to the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Yankees and all those who operate minor league "stores," either extensively or otherwise.

Others have feared the effect on baseball of the so-called monopolies the "chain-stores" may gain in the minor league field. It has remained for Mr. Barnard to express apprehension for the operators themselves.

"They are inviting disaster," he said, "and they will get it. The system is uneconomic, unstable. It means ultimate ruin. I ought to know because we have three excellent minor league franchises curl up and almost die on us when I was president of the Cleveland club. It is like the work of Japanese farmers. They till the soil so furiously that there is nothing left in it after a couple of years. So much for the reaction to the farm itself."

IN SANTA ANA

Dons Select 1930 Leader At Banquet

Selection of a captain to skipper the 1930 team will be one of the features of the annual Santa Ana junior college football banquet to be held next Wednesday night.

Of the possible candidates in the field for the honor of being chosen captain, four or five are outstanding. Al Kluthe, all-conference center, Ed Adams, star end, Wayne Garlock, second all-conference quarterback, Franklin Van Meter, halfback and Tim Wallace, tackle are five regulars who will be considered for the captaincy.

Coches Bill Cook's Dons were undisputed champions of Southern California and in a post-season game with Sacramento last Saturday, went down to a hard-fought defeat, 12 to 6.

COACH OLIVER TO HAVE MANY VETERANS BACK

JONES THROUGH AS WEST POINT COACH DEC. 28

BY FRANK GETTY

(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—When the Army football team plays Stanford at Palo Alto, Dec. 28, Captain Lawrence ("Biff") Jones will be closing a brilliant career as head football coach at the United States Military academy.

After this game Jones will turn over the coaching job to Major Ralph Sasse, now teacher of the Army ends, and will return to the troops at Fort Sill, Okla.

Jones took hold of the West Point team in 1926 and in his four seasons his eleven have lost seven games and tied two. In his first season he lost to Notre Dame and tied with the Navy. In 1927, Yale beat the Army.

The 1928 season saw Notre Dame and Stanford take the measure of the Cadets and this year Jones' team was defeated by Yale, Illinois and Notre Dame and tied by Harvard.

This four-year record is one of the most praiseworthy football can show for any coach during this period.

Army teams under Jones have been powerful defensive machines, and high scoring combinations as well. Only one of his teams failed to pass the 200-point mark in scoring, the 1927 outfit stopping at 197 points. The high mark for his tenure came this fall, with

To Miss Line Regulars

The Saints will miss the regulars who played tackle, guard and center but the outlook is not as hopeless as it might be. Oliver had a number of promising under-studies on the squad who should develop into high class linemen next season.

Captain Bruce Tarver, Wayne Vance, Marvin Johnston, Harry Clayton, "Bud" Hartman, John Jamison, Harold Long, Bob Merrill, and several other veteran forwards will be missing when practice is called next September.

Oliver will be hard pressed to replace them but Lee Hoffmaster, Bill Donahue, Zeno Shelley and Lawrence Lutz, all tackles; Winfield Martin, Le Roy De Smet, Iard Runyan and Miner Whitford, guards, and Roy Harvey, center, are prospective first stringers.

COACH OLIVER TO HAVE MANY VETERANS BACK

Although almost every first string line-man on the squad will retire from the athletic picture in June, prospects for Santa Ana high school's 1930 football team are most encouraging.

Nineteen players who wore the Saint spangles this year have at least one more season of eligibility and Coach "Tex" Oliver believes that several junior high school athletes who will enter the senior institution next fall have first team possibilities.

As has been the case for the past two years the team's attack will be built around Al Rehob, triple threat quarterback, who next year will begin his third and last campaign for Santa Ana.

Pangle Has Another Year

Harold Pangle, big halfback, also has another season of eligibility. Pangle was a tremendously improved player this fall, and with this experience nothing should keep him off the Coast Preparatory All-League team in 1930.

Don Crumley, Fayette Blower, James Daneri and Harmon Howard are other backs who should develop into valuable men. Crumley has been a regular for two years. Daneri lacks only confidence to be a high class football player.

Jack Fredericks, Jimmy Hall, Doyle Gilbert, Norman Paul and Edwin Rogers are the graduating backs.

"Toy" Blower, Hideo Higashi, Gilbert Meisinger, Winford Hess and Willett Round, all returning, will give Coach Oliver an abundance of material for end. Lloyd Nuzum and Asa Herren have both played their last for the local eleven.

To Miss Line Regulars

The Saints will miss the regulars who played tackle, guard and center but the outlook is not as hopeless as it might be. Oliver had a number of promising under-studies on the squad who should develop into high class linemen next season.

MAJOR LEAGUE 'CHAIN STORE' SYSTEM RAPPED

tor get out of it in player material? Often enough the players he needs are with clubs that are not under its control. He has to go elsewhere to buy when the theory of 'farn' operation is that it makes the owner self-sufficient. We have only to study the effect of the system to know that it does nothing of the kind.

"Meantime, what pride can the minor league fan have in the club of his town when it is constantly changing its personnel almost from day to day? He sees an infielder he likes on Monday. Two days later the man has disappeared, either to go up to the major league owner or to some other club in the chain. That sort of thing kills local following.

Outside ownership does its share of this, too. The town figure that for the outside owner's benefit and not for theirs. They can't help but think that way when they see a half dozen players pushed into and out of town in as many days.

I could quote the names of minor league franchises that are expiring under this system. But I won't. They are having too hard a time, as it is, without calling attention to the fact."

Having thus pointed to the cause, Mr. Barnard then suggested the remedy. It is the universal draft.

"They wouldn't be bothered trying to develop men in their own particular preserves, if everybody could come in there poaching at the end of the season and draft the men they fancied," he declared. "There's the only thing we can do about it—make their position untenable."

"We can't make them sell their club; indeed, so greatly have some of those holdings depreciated, they might find trouble in selling. We can't even make them see that this fact is significant. All we can do is try to protect them against themselves."

Mr. Barnard didn't add any information as to how he hoped to make some of the die-hard minors accept the universal draft. This will be a good trick, even if he never does it.

Schedule For 1930 Arranged By Troy

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—University of Southern California's football schedule for 1930 has been tentatively completed and shows ten games—seven of them with conference teams—on the list. St. Mary's college is not included.

With the annual Pacific Coast conference meeting in San Francisco yet to be held the schedule announced by Manager Gwynn Wilson calls for games with California, Stanford, Notre Dame, Washington, Washington State, University of California at Los Angeles, Idaho and Oregon State.

Cecil Payne Wins From Goldie Hess

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Cecil Payne, junior lightweight from Louisville, decisively defeated "Goldie" Hess of Ocean Park in a 10-round bout at the Olympic last night. Payne had six rounds, Hess three with one even. It was a fast fight. Hess was knocked down in the sixth round.

GIVING BACK THE GAME
"Give the game back to the students, they say. Well, whose game is it? You can't give any game back to 10,000 students. You can only give it back to a clique. Anything students do and run they make a mess of it. Students can't think. You've got to have experience to think and they haven't any experience."

It is interesting to note in this connection that the players of the University of Illinois varsity declined to elect a captain for the 1930 football team, leaving that to Zuppke.

Shortly after the Illinois' players' refusal to ballot, Glenn Thistlewaite, Wisconsin's coach, expressed himself in this wise: "I hope Wisconsin will never reach the state where it is afraid to elect a football captain."

the 89 to 0 victory over Dickinson.

In 1928 Army scored 260 points and held opponents to 71. The following year the Cadets outscored their rivals 197 to 37 and in 1928 made 215 points while opposing teams made 79. In the nine games played thus far this year the Army has scored 263 points against 98.

"Red" Cagle has played on all four of Jones' Army teams and will end his career at the same time as his coach. Strangely enough the Jones' regime was typified by the success of Cagle himself. Cagle's best seasons were the Army's most successful and this year when Army had its poorest record under Jones, Cagle failed to reach the heights of previous campaigns.

Major Ralph Sasse, who will succeed Jones, has handled the Army ends since 1923, serving as assistant to Jones. He has consistently supplied the Army with star ends, developing Baxter, captain of the 1926 team; Born, Harbold, Brenthal and finally Messinger and Carlmark, the present wingmen.

Sasse is a native of Wilmington, Del., and was an all-around athlete in high school. While attending National Preparatory academy he coached the football team upon which he played with marked success.

A twisted knee, suffered during his plebe year, kept Sasse from playing football during his schooling at West Point.

After the war Major Sasse coached football teams of the tank corps at Camp Meade, Maryland, and with them won the third corps area gridiron championship. The new coach's hobby is polo.

Editor "Register":—

For several years the writer and his family have visited friends in your city and during these visits became enamored with your beautiful roads in both city and country as well as the salubrious climate and the scrupulous cleanliness of the community.

Last August we moved here and rented a house in the northern part of the city, with the intention of purchasing a home here in the spring, after we became acquainted with the general conditions here.

As it has been necessary to drive from here to Alhambra two and three times a week since coming here the fact that the approach from the north is utterly inadequate for the amount of traffic it carries has soon dawned upon my mind and when the move was made to construct the "Santa Ana Boulevard" I was very much impressed with the broad-mindedness of the city officials.

But when the opposition to the improvement by the reactionary element came to the surface, to say the least, we were thoroughly disgusted and you may rest assured that should the improvement be defeated, so much as I like this garden spot, my investment will be made in some other part of the Southland.

C. W. PATTERSON.

114 E. 20th St., Santa Ana, Calif.

Editor:—There are some points stressed by the so-called Citizens' League in opposition to the construction of Santa Ana boulevard which are mainly contrary to common sense. These points are used as grounds for trying to recall the city council.

For instance, the inference has been made that the cost of the job probably would exceed the city's estimate by amounts up to twice the amount of the estimate. There can be no grounds for such propaganda. The city council and its engineers have taken considerable time in preparing and analyzing the probable cost of such work and have too much at stake to risk an estimate of cost which might be so far off as we are led to believe. It seems to me to be a plain case of jumping at conclusions on the part of the league. With experts in charge and qualified men to help arrive at conservative figures for the cost of the work, why should a few untrained men feel called upon to assume that these figures are only half enough?

If the city council did not feel that the work can and will be done for a figure closely approximating the estimated cost they certainly would not take the stand they have. They have gone on record unanimously, feeling that the good of the community is of more importance than the personal injuries they may sustain at the hands of the minority. These are the kind of men we need to look after the city affairs, men with backbone enough to back their judgment with their reputations. These are the men who merit our support. Let us support them through the press and at the polls if an election is held.

C. H. SCOTT.
1214 West Fourth Street.

To the Editor:—The question of whether the boulevard along the Southern Pacific railroad tracks from Main street to Chapman avenue shall be built or not and the question of recalling the city council seem to be exciting considerable comment. So far, however, most of the comment has originated with those opposed to the improvement and it seems to be time that someone who approves the action taken by the council voices that approval publicly.

The large majority of the property owners in the city have faith in the present administrators of the public business and I presume that they feel so secure in their faith that they do not deem it necessary to express their approval and support publicly. But who ever heard of a football team without some rooters? We have a fine team so why not do some rooting and show our support?

J. R. GILLETTE.

EDITOR REGISTER:

In reading some of the articles recently published and talking with people, it has occurred to me that some of the people are inclined to confuse the two questions. As I understand, the question now before the people is do we want the City Trustees to exercise their legal right under the Mattoon Act to create heavy indebtedness upon the City without permitting the citizens to have a voice in the matter, not a question of whether we want the Santa Ana Boulevard built or do not want it. That is a question that would come up later. Some parties have said we elected these five men as our City Trustees. We have given them all power to act for us and we have no right to question their acts and must abide by their decision. What business man would for a moment admit that when he delegates authority to an employee, he is forever barred from withdrawing such authority or discharging him, if he should exercise that authority in a way not approved by his employer. In a book written by Mr. Harris

Newmark, entitled "My Sixty Years in Southern California," he tells of taking over a store at one of the Government Forts and put an employee in charge. To his surprise, a friend, sometime later, asked him if he knew that his agent was gambling and when he had no money he used some of the stock of goods from the store. He at once removed him and discharged him.

The Governments of most of the European Countries have this delegated power taken from them when the majority of the Parliament is dissatisfied with their action. We have a recent example of its exercise in the French Parliament. Briand was elected Prime Minister, and as France's representative at the Hague, he consented to a reduction of the amount of the German reparation to be paid to France and an increase of the amount to be paid to Great Britain from those amounts fixed by the Young plan, which had been practically agreed upon. This action so displeased the Chamber that on a vote of confidence his Government was overthrown.

In Kansas in 1870 Montgomery County voted $200,000.00 in bonds for the L. & G. Railroad. This election was carried by fraud and the County refused to pay the bonds. Suit was brought by the holders of same and it was proven in the trial that a certain attorney voted eighteen times, changing his name each time, that the railroad construction hands all voted for the bonds, though not legal citizens. The suit was compromised. At that time, with interest, the claim was about $400,000.00 and was settled for $160,000.00 in "long time bonds." The officers of the County, who were implicated in this fraud, were all defeated at the next election. Kansas having no re-call provision later when Barber County was organized, one of our reputable business men of Independence, Kansas, moved to that County and was elected one of the County Commissioners. The frauds perpetrated by the Commissioners were so glaring that this man barely escaped lynching with others, and all left the County.

If we are not satisfied with the arbitrary course of the City Trustees, we have the right to submit the question of a recall to the people. Our Grandfather fought the Revolutionary War with Great Britain to decide the question of a Government's right of "Taxation Without Representation" and it was decided in our favor. Are we going to follow the Russian people and the Italians and surrender our rights to an Autocracy?

The talk about our people being divided on this question hurting our City, is foolish. More people are kept from investing in property in a town where taxes are high and where the majority of the people are indifferent about the creation of indebtedness than where the majority of the people seek to control extravagance. I call your attention to the recent re-call vote of certain Trustees in Long Beach. The Board refused to call the election as required by law, but through Mandamus proceedings they were compelled to do so. Before the election occurred, part of the Trustees resigned and the remaining members of the re-call were turned out. I have not heard of any injury to the City on account of this action. In the Los Angeles Times of November 1st, 1929, Mr. J. A. Graves, President of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, in his article gave a copy of a certain letter which he wrote to the Supervisors of Los Angeles County, warning them against hasty action in building the San Gabriel dam, which was proposed to be built at a height of 500 feet, and advised them to very carefully examine the foundation before letting the contract. This letter is published elsewhere in this paper, but he says in closing, "Trusting that you will give this question the consideration that the grave situation deserves," etc. He further says they never deigned a reply to this letter. Probably all of you readers have noticed, recently, that the State has required its engineers to examine, carefully, the foundation for said dam, and after such examination, issued an order prohibiting the County from building this dam. That the County Supervisors had agreed to pay the sum of $4,000,000.00 to the Contractors for work already done by said Contractors, and in addition the Contractors demanded between five and seven million dollars for estimated profits upon their contract of which the cancellation has derived them. I merely mention this to show how indifferent people ple, who are intrusted with the management of public affairs, often are.

Had our Trustees submitted the question of the building of the Santa Ana Highway to a vote of the people and a two-thirds majority of the voters favored the road, we would willingly submit but we cannot submit to the arbitrary creation of a debt of $350,000 or more, being forced upon the City, without an expression of the people. A majority of the people must rule, not an Autocracy.

WM. E. OTIS.

Editor Register:—

I wonder how many of the boosters for the proposed Santa Ana Boulevard realize the real facts with reference to the boulevard. According to a statement made by Mr. Jenken, our city engineer, while addressing a meeting of the reaty board on February 23, 1929, there are 15,000 vacant lots in the city limits of Santa Ana, and 7800 homes.

The entire assessed valuation of real estate and improvements combined at this time is $21,051,600; the real estate assessed valuation being $10,971,095. Mr. Jenken says the cost of the proposed work will be pro-rated against the assessed value of all the real estate within the corporate limits of Santa Ana. This sounds reasonable. But after a careful survey we find that the assessed valuation of all improvements in the city limits is $10,080,505.

According to Mr. Jenken this vast sum of $10,080,505 on improvements is not to participate in the expense of building the new Santa Ana boulevard. Only real estate assessed valuations are to be considered all homes, business blocks, and merchandise are not to pay one cent toward the new road. Possibly this may explain the boosting of the new road on the part of a few of our business men and others who will not have to pay any of the cost of the road.

Now comes the joker in the whole matter: The 15,000 vacant lots with no income from any source and covered with liens, street assessments, lighting systems, etc., will have to bear the major portion of the entire cost of the new road.

You are to be the judge whether or not the Mattoon Act as applied in this case will render a just and equitable distribution of the cost of the proposed road. Yet the city council proceeds under the Mattoon Act to vote an unnecessary $370,000 bond issue for a duplicate highway and have entrenched themselves in a position where only a recall can reach them.

JOHN C. GARDINER.
512 West First Street.

Editor Register:

I saw last night's Register that Santa Ana's population has grown 130 per cent in the last ten years, and all this without the Santa Ana Boulevard. Santa Ana will grow whether we have the boulevard or not. I have not talked with any one, whether they favor this proposition or not, who do not think it would be much better to have the road in the west part of town from Chapman to Fourth street instead of cutting off a corner and coming out on to Main. They will probably say we can't do that because we can't spend the city's money outside the city. If this is so how could they buy a camp site at Forest Home? However, with more time and the sanction of the majority of the people could not this matter be adjusted? But if we must have the road NOW why do we have to have ornamental lights two to three miles out from the center of the city, and why do not the property owners pay for them the same as they have in the past and are still doing? We who paid for the lights on West Fourth and West Fifth streets feel that this is most unjust. And last but not least as there has no emergency arisen why are the voters deprived of the right to vote on this bond issue? Want Santa Ana to grow? Of course we do. But first we should see to it that we grow in an honest and just manner, never forgetting the first principles of our government which should be of, for and by the people.

Sincerely,
MRS. L. B. STEWART,

If gravy is to be judged on flavor you wouldn't make gallons at a time

You can "season to taste" a pint of gravy much more accurately. For a similar reason Hills Bros. roast only a few pounds of coffee at a time, instead of in bulk, by their patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. The flavor is actually controlled all ways. No other coffee can taste like Hills Bros. Coffee because none is roasted the same way.

THE CHIEF POINTS THE WAY

One of the Waccama chiefs took a great fancy to the Boy Scouts. He stands here on an ant-hill pointing out to them a nearby donga in which he declares they will find lions. The chief was right.

LIONS

True Stories of the Ferocity of the African Lion By Martin Johnson Author of "Safari"

Nothing could have pleased Osa and me better, for so many people are inclined to take our adventures among lions "with a grain of salt."

Over the camp fire that night we all reviewed the day's work. Dick figured that we had seen no less than twenty-one lions. And while we talked we must have heard some of those same lions roaring away in the darkness while they went about their nightly business of killing.

We discussed some of the common game that we were going to let the boys shoot. This was unavoidable though limited slaughter. As I have said before we had to keep our black porters in meat.

"The enormous number of animals," popped out Doug. The others felt the same way. None had any idea that there is ever such a concentration of wild animals. I could see their point. Since morning we must have seen a hundred thousand head: giraffe, zebra, impala, topi, kongoni, ostrich, wart hogs, Tommies, Granties, dik-dik, waterbuck, bushbuck, reedbuck, bat-eared foxes, lions, cheetahs, hyenas and many other species. Moreover, we had seen this vast menagerie at close range.

The next few days passed in very much the same way, sight-seeing among the host of animals that surrounded us. Sometimes we saw lions, sometimes we didn't. But we were always within sight of game.

It was on the eighth day that Dick and Dave got their lions. Early in the morning we flushed three fine fellows with big manes that flurried out when they trotted away from us, circling for our scent. Several times the lions stopped and gave ugly snarls; but when the boys started to get out of the car the lions would move on again.

At a grassy donga, which have a good cover, the lions decided to make a stand. They were all in a bad humor, probably having been disappointed in their zebra hunting the night before. Possibly they thought we might make a good meal if they could pick out one or two of us.

It speaks well for the nerve and marksmanship of our Boy Scouts that Dave and Dick took Osa's Springfield and each dropped a lion without complications. The reader would have to know all the mutilations and deaths that have occurred under similar circumstances among even trained hunters to appreciate how deftly these fifteen-year-olds did their job.

But their secret attitude toward the killing business was revealed when Dick handed the rifle back to Osa and said: "Well, that's over with. Now we can photograph in peace."

Yet it was not surprising to me that the boys showed so little enthusiasm. All of us were glad that the lion shooting was over. And I made a mental vow that I would never shoot another lion or be either present or an accomplice at another lion shooting except in emergency.

SCHOOL BOARD GETS PLANS ON TWO BUILDINGS

Scheduled action on insurance and building matters did not come to a vote before the Santa Ana board of education last night at its meeting in the board offices, corner of Sixth and Sycamore streets, due to the fact that Dr. John Ball, president of the body, was able to be present for only a few minutes near the end of the session. The board recessed until next Tuesday night for a special session to further consider these matters.

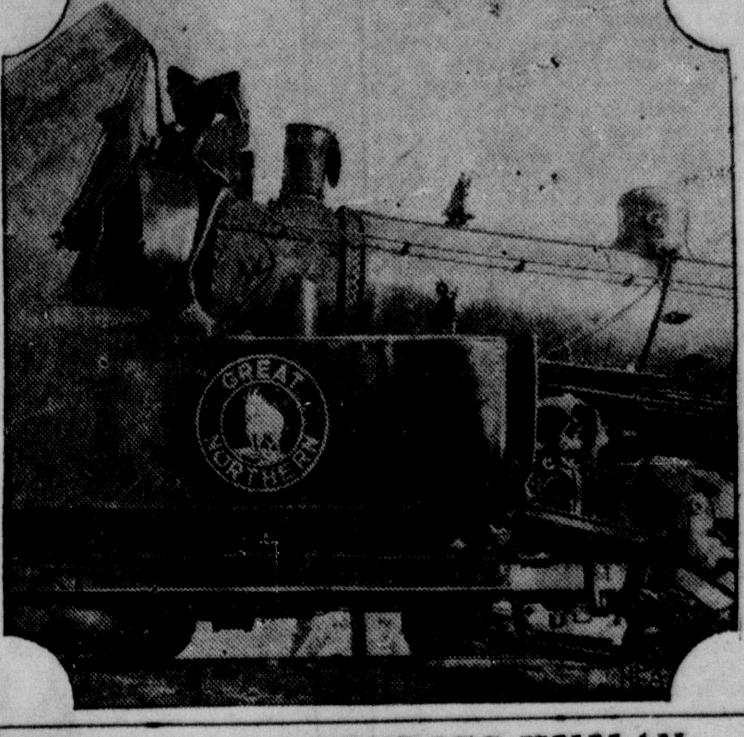

Plans and estimates for two schools, however, were received from Allison and Allison, supervising architects, and presented to the board by R. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds. The proposed plans call for a two-story building at the Washington avenue and Baker street site, with nine classrooms and a kindergarten, at an estimated cost of $65,000, and a 10-room and kindergarten school on East Santa Clara avenue near French street, at an estimated cost of $72,000. The schools are to be known respectively as Woodrow Wilson and Herbert Hoover. Opinions favoring the two-story school on West Washington were expressed by several members of the board, who declared that so much high priced land would not be required to provide adequate playground space under this plan. Both structures are to be of reinforced concrete, according to the proposed plans, with tile and composition roofs.

Discuss Location The board also discussed various proposed locations in the northern part of the present Jefferson school district, where it is planned to erect a six or eight-room school to care for the rapidly growing northwest section of the city. Decision was reached to visit several of the sites being considered. An option on one piece was presented and the board took formal action requesting the Santa Ana Realty board to appraise the property under consideration. A committee from the John Muir Parent-Teacher association, composed of W. J. Tway, Mrs. C. A. Knowlton and Edward Dowd, appeared before the board and called to its attention certain facts regarding attendance in this school. The committee presented a resolution, adopted by the association at the November meeting, declaring that a condition existed in the John Muir school that was not found in any other school in the city, inas-

SPECTACULAR WRECK

A Great Northern passenger train engine took a knockout punch right on the nose when it crashed into a helper engine near Butte, Mont., as this striking picture shows. One man was killed and 11 others injured.

BUS DRIVER STUDIES HUMAN NATURE IN ALL ITS MOODS AS PUBLIC TELLS ITS STORY

While many of the drivers of the big Motor Transit buses, which travel daily on their appointed courses, may not be familiar with Pope's axiom that the proper study of mankind is man nevertheless a bus driver probably knows as much, if not more, of the ways of mankind in general than anyone who comes in constant contact with the public.

In his capacity of conductor, expressman, driver, automobile mechanic, mail carrier, baggage man and head of a general information bureau, the driver has an opportunity to observe human nature from many different angles. The travelling public usually wears good clothes but not always good nature. The greater part of the travellers are good natured, to be sure, but the other sort often drive a driver to the verge of losing his temper—a thing no driver must do.

The habit passengers have of growing confidential when they seat themselves in the bus seats nearly qualifies the man at the wheel to run a bureau for the love-lorn. Some of the straggling bits of conversation he overhears

KNOWLTON AND NEWMAN TAKE ROTARY PLEDGE

Carl V. Newman, president of the California Calavo association, manager of the San Joaquin Fruit and Investment company and well known agriculturist, and Owen Knowlton, of the Mateer Drug stores, today had become full fledged members of the Santa Ana Rotary club, following their induction into membership at yesterday's meeting of the club.

The ideals and purposes of Rotary and the personal profit liable to accrue in the form of substantial friendships were impressed upon the "baby Rotarians" in talks by Dr. Harvey Stryker and W. C. Jerome, the former outlining the ideals of Rotary and the latter pledging the new members.

The Rev. Earl Cochran, former minister in Orange and former member of the club there, was a guest at the meeting and he added a few words to further impress the new members with the fact that a great honor had been conferred upon them by their acceptance into membership of Rotary. The Rev. Mr. Cochran now is located in Los Angeles.

In his cheeks. "He's looking better today," says the driver. Then there's the woman who goes each day to a certain town. She waits for the return bus with a letter held tightly in her hand. An intriguing mystery—but the bus driver, with his multitudinous duties, has no time for mysteries.

Young lads along the highways regard the buses with envious eyes—the big vehicles are the symbols of journeys into the alluring unknown. The bus driver sees the hundreds of bent old men with their rolls on their shoulders, trudging along the highways—an army of homeless wanderers marching to nowhere, one by one.

He guides his car through the thick white fog or along sun-splashed highways with equal nonchalance. He knows how the distant hills and mountains look in the early morning and when the night blots them from sight. His eyes are on the road ahead, his ear listens for the first faint hint of trouble in his motor.

He reassures a passenger here, he soothes the rumpled feelings of a passenger there. He issues a transfer at the last moment, and, like a Boy Scout, does not one, but innumerable good turns a day.

Search for Beauty Is Worthwhile Says Speaker

That life is a splendid thing filled with beauty on every hand was the statement of Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean of women at the Santa Ana Junior college, when she addressed the Wrycende Maedden club at its weekly dinner at the Y. W. C. A. last night.

Mrs. Northcross based her talk on the definitions of two words, Hellenism and Hellenism. She pointed out that Hellenism is the belief that life is a sorry thing but man must struggle through it the best he can in order to prepare himself for a better life to come. Hellenists believed often times in immortality, the speaker said, but on the other hand looked upon life as a wonderful gift which should be devoted to beauty and the search for happiness.

The fact that Hellenism teaches man to look for beauty makes it a valuable and worth while viewpoint, Mrs. Northcross said. She then named the many places where everyone can find beauty, the skies, gardens, trees, mountains, the sea, and man-made things as paintings, sculptures, buildings, etc. During the brief business meeting which was conducted by Miss Mildred Calkins, president, it was announced that the club would hold its annual Christmas party next Tuesday when there will be a 50-cent gift exchange.

It was announced that the Social committee would meet Friday night at 8 o'clock. Members of the committee include Miss Vena Belle Bryant, Miss Dorothy Beckman, Miss Genevieve Fisher, Miss Florence Danielson, Miss Betty Burnham and Miss Eve Turton.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

A twelve-hour day for the short skirts is the latest edict from Paris.

This compromise measure is based on the French logic that if you can't score a complete victory, take what you can get gracefully. They are still dubious about the long vs. the short skirt issue. They sense that women are not entirely sold on them, even though they are buying them, and trying them out, and that they might do a right-about-face on them yet—particularly if men keep telling them how terrible they look masquerading as womanly women.

Therefore, they say: Short skirts from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., if you must. But after that, be reasonable. Play fair. Put on a long skirt and look as if you liked it.

Worth, the famous couturier, based this tentative compromise on his pet theory, that women dress in the day time to please women and at night to please men. Thus, during the daytime, when they are thrown into the society of each other, let them have short skirts, but in the evening, consider the sheik, and put on the glitter and glamour and the long skirts.

WE'LL STILL WORRY That may settle the issue for Paris, but it doesn't unfurrow the brow over here.

Because the American man, stubbornly enough, likes the short skirt, and the women, who like a change, even if it makes them a lot of work and expense, are generally for the long ones.

So we would have to reverse the situation, and wear long dresses for day, and knee-length models for evening.

And consider the sad plight of the pretty stenographer—who is probably the best dressed girl we have. What is she going to do? During the eight to eleven span is when she is thrown with men rather than with women.

It is during her working rather than her play hours, she meets the rising young business men, and the young lawyers and professional men, and has her best picking, matrimonially speaking. If she is going to beat some Social Registerite in the race to the altar, she must plant the idea, at least, during the working hours. Therefore, shall she wear the long or the short skirt? And if she goes short, will she not be practically signifying her intentions?

MAKE 'EM LIKE IT! My own opinion is like that you can make a man like any type of clothes or practically any type of women, if you just stick to one idea long enough until it has time to take roots in his masculine mind. Once rooted, he will consider it his own, and consequently a good one.

No one had more to say against short skirts at first than men did. They were immodest, indecent, and indicative of low mentality and lower morals. Now they are sensible, smart, and decent. Indicating our emancipation. To go back to long ones merely indicates a return to slavery.

Men really have no definite ideas about clothes, but they have an unfavorable reaction to radical changes. As soon as we women settle the issue one way or another, and fall in line, they will accept whatever we decide on—and like it.

Gargle ONCE

One trial shows how Bayer Aspirin relieves sore throat; dissolve two tablets in quarter of a glass of water, and gargle well! Until you've tried it, you can't believe how quickly you get complete relief. You've often been advised to gargle for sore throat or tonsillitis, but it is what you gargle that counts. Gargle Bayer Aspirin, and you get results. Real relief, and the infection effectually reduced. To break-up a cold, stop neuralgic pains, and headaches from any cause, physicians say there's nothing better than Bayer. They will tell you, too, it does not depress the heart. So you're safe if the box says Bayer! All drug stores. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer manufacture of monacetic-acidester of salicylic acid.

Are Aristocrats Born?

Sometimes I Think They Are — BUT — Sometimes I Think They Aren't

By VELVA G. DARLING

In a little town on the desert somewhere between El Paso and San Antonio, Texas, is a drug store with a soda fountain. And above the soda fountain is this notice: "Gentlemen will not spit on the floor, other MUST not." Irrespective of the state of a civilization which still finds it necessary in certain communities to post warnings against the fury of expectation, it is interesting to note that even here the innate courtesy of the gentleman has been perceived. The aristocrat, apparently, is born even on the desert, identical in his manner and in his instinctive consideration for others with the aristocrat of London, New York and Tokio. If you look at the pictures of aristocrats and peasants of different countries and different areas, you will see how amazingly like the same classes in our towns they are. The facial expression of the gentleman who "will not spit on the floor" is not only reproduced in the historic pictures of Venetian rulers by Titian, and portrayed on ancient Roman coins and Greek statues, but also in the pictures which Commodore Perry brought home of the aristocrats of Japan a hundred years ago. Broad lands and great interests not only arrive to the men and women who can manage them—they also form the manners of power. The keen eye can perceive nice gradations of rank and can see in the manners of an individual just exactly the degree of homage he is accustomed to receive. Ask any railway red cap.

But on the other hand, sometimes I think the doltish clown in a recent movie was right when he repeated "I told my aunt that you were like a cactus. They are dangerous, but treated right they make mighty good food for cattle!" Environment and circumstance have a great deal to do with your inclination to spit or not to spit on the floor. Manners grow out of custom as well as out of character. The calm and poised and good nature with which you face the world is the exact measure of your aristocracy. It is your frame of mind, not the kind of blood in your veins, that determines how much of a gentleman or lady you are. If you feel apologetic or inclined to whine, if you do not sleep well or if the cleaner didn't come back with your dress in time and you feel that you must speak about it, look yourself up in your bedroom and talk to yourself. Don't ruin somebody else's morning with it. It is these things that mark the aristocrat from the peasant.

An old man of the world, cultured, sophisticated, and well beloved, spoke the whole doctrine of aristocracy when he said, "When you come into the room, I think I will study how to make humanity beautiful to you." But on the other hand, nobody can make the weak, apologetic man sure of himself or the selfish mean-minded woman full of the love of life and of making others happy. They have to do it themselves and if they can't—why, they can't, that's all.

ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Dec. 11.—The orphan's group of the Girls' league at the Anaheim union high school sponsored a program at the high school recently. Opening the program the high school male quartet sang two songs, accompanied at the piano by Juanita Brownfield. Two numbers also were sung by the girls' quartet accompanied by Adele Summers.

Popular ballads were presented by a vocal trio in costume. Eight girls from the dancing class of one of the gymnasium classes did the Virginia reel in the regular old-fashioned style. Margaret Davis, Leva Fay Clansby, Lloyd Scott and Leason Pomeroy, under the direction of Mrs. Faye Schulz, presented.

The MIXING BOWL

by ANN MEREDITH

Christmas Colds Other things than Christmas gifts sometimes appear in our stockings on Christmas morning, and the least desirable of these articles is a brand new, sneezy cold. Someone may think, "Why being that up?" when we are all scurrying around with last-minute things to do.

I bring it up because I want you to catch the cold while it is young and tender, gently grab it 'round the neck, and kill it! This is most successfully done with SODA. When your nose begins to tickle, before even the first sneeze if possible, take a teaspoonful of baking soda in half a glass of warm water at half-hour intervals until three doses have been taken. This must be done before food is eaten of course, then eat a light meal and take plenty of milk and orange juice throughout the day. I can almost guarantee that you will not have a trace of cold in twelve hours after starting the treatment.

I told you of this soda treatment for cold not very long ago, and am doing so again today to fully impress upon you the efficacy of this treatment. Cold, you know, is caused by a busy little bug whose activities create an acid condition in your body; the soda finds this acid and neutralizes it with its powerful alkaline. Milk and orange juice are alkalines in lesser degree, as well as good food.

TODAY'S RECIPE Edna's Steamed Pudding 1 egg, well beaten. 1 cup suet, chopped fine. 1 cup black molasses. 1/2 cup sweet milk. 1 cup seeded raisins. 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg. 1 teaspoon soda. 1/2 teaspoon salt. 1 1/2 cups flour, measured before sifting.

Before we start to make this pudding let me tell you that it requires two hours to steam it, so order the ingredients the day before, wash the raisins and spread them out to dry, for—

Like Jack Warner, we want to stick in a thumb and pull out a plum with every bite, not find them all in the bottom because they were too damp to stay put! Free the beef suet from membranes and chop it mealy fine with chopping knife, not the food chopper. Put the pudding together in the order in which the recipe reads, first mixing the soda and molasses together so that they will have a chance to foam.

Flour the fruit and fold through the mixed pudding. Put it into a buttered mold, allowing plenty of space for the pudding to rise. If steamed over water, use an open mold, covering the top with buttered paper closely tied on. If steamed, sitting in boiling water, it is better to use a covered pan or mold, with the water two-thirds of the way up the sides. Anyways use boiling water. Any change of temperature makes these puddings heavy.

A thin hot lemon sauce is always nice to serve with steamed puddings, but use the sauce you like best. The pudding will serve eight. Individual calorie totals are 400 for each person, including a simple sauce.

Time savers, the current leaflet, offers you time-saving recipes which you can prepare ahead in quantity and keep for days in the refrigerator or cold closet. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a free copy of this interesting leaflet this week.

Tomorrow I am going to give you a tried-and-true recipe for making grapefruit marmalade. This is good enough to find a ready sale in case you want to make your kitchen earn its way.

ANN MEREDITH.

RENTERS' PARADISE

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 10.—There's no high rent problem in Weymouth, a once-prosperous town of Southern Jersey. House rent there runs about $1.20 a year. The town was built after the Revolutionary War, and after business had run down, all the active persons moved out, leaving only a few old settlers to remain. No one asked for rent, and only when the water company was installed was a fee of ten cents a month fixed.

DUNCANS BIG HIT IN BROADWAY FILM

"It's a Great Life," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest all-talking, dancing and singing show, featuring the Duncan Sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, is the current attraction in the Fox-Broadway theater. The picture opened there Monday and will play through tomorrow night.

Unusually good singing and dancing mark the picture and critics throughout the country claim the talkies will make new stars of the Duncan Sisters. In fact, they made such a tremendous hit in their first all-talking picture that both have been given long-time contracts by M.G.M. The story of "It's a Great Life" has to do with two sisters, clerks in a department store. One falls in love and while the sisters advance to the vaudeville stage and battle to the top, the danger of one leaving the other to marry is ever present. Their troubles are all ironed out in the last few feet of the film, furnishing a surprising climax.

Aside from the feature, a Grantland Rice Sportlight and a Fox Movietone newsreel are on the program.

"HALLELUJAH" WILL CLOSE RUN TONIGHT

"Hallelujah," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first all-Negro picture, which has been playing in the Fox-West Coast theater for the last three days, closes its run there today.

A picture entirely different from any picture seen here in the past, "Hallelujah" allows a study of the Negro of the south, in his church and at play. It is an all-talking feature, well done from start to finish.

The Negro spirituals, the Negro blues and other songs feature the show, while the best single number done is "The End of the Road," sung by the male star, Daniel Haynes.

One of the feature scenes of the show is the baptismal scene, taken in Memphis and which is absolutely true to Negro life.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAI COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

The Tinymites were tickled. Gee! They all looked happy as could be. At last they'd met old Santa Claus and found him very nice. They watched him chuckle loud with glee. And then he said, "Well, follow me. I'll take you to a nice shop in this land of snow and ice."

"Now, when we get there, just behave. I'll promise I won't make you slave. But I am sure you'll all be glad to help me make some toys. For everything that you lads do will wake up cheerfulness anew on merry Christmas morning, for a lot of girls and boys."

They stepped into the open air and Santa said, "We'll do our share. In fact we're very anxious to sail in and lend a hand. We usually learn things very quick and soon we'll all be working alick. I'll try to tell the others things they do not understand."

"Ah! That's the spirit," Santa said. "I'm glad to see you use your head. I have a lot of elves who'll gladly show you what to do. Just work real fast and with good cheer 'cause Christmas eve is almost here. You'll find things interesting, boys, 'cause everything is new."

And then they reached another shop. Said Santa, "This is where we stop. In here we make express carts and some scooters. You shall see. When you begin to work, be sure that not a thing is turned out poor. I like to have my presents all be perfect as can be."

Within the shop they found a man who said, "Here, Tinymites, you can make use of all my saws. They'll help with things you're going to make. My hammers, too, you all can use. Get busy! There's no time to lose. And please don't stop your work until your arms begin to ache."

(The Tinymites start to work in the next story.)

SCHOOL BOARD GETS PLANS ON TWO BUILDINGS

much as one-third of the Mexican attendance in the entire city school system outside of the Mexican schools was concentrated in this school. It seemed such a condition a hazard to the health of other children and a retarding feature in the work of the school. The committee was advised that the state law specifies that Mexicans cannot be segregated when they live in a regular school district and are able to attend the regular school, but that the board would order a thorough survey and do everything in its power to alleviate the situation.

A discussion of the insurance problem was precipitated by the reading of a letter from E. A. White, asking to be given some of the new business created by the expansion program and a communication from the Santa Ana Realty board at the last board meeting, in which the fire insurance business, at the recommendation of the insurance committee, composed of John Henderson, E. M. Sundquist, E. D. Holmes, L. G. Swales, Harold Harrison and R. H. Drake, set up a list of full time insurance agents who were to be allotted the fire insurance business.

This action took policies from the hands of realtors who also are engaged in insurance business and was protested by the realtors as casting reflections upon the ethics of their profession and giving business to persons who are not taxpayers. Decision or action on this proposition was put over until the next meeting of the board. Herbert Miller advanced the thought that the Realty board should be apprised that the action resulted from following the recommendations of the insurance committee and that a similar recommendation had been made a year ago.

The board transacted a great deal of routine business, including the purchase of equipment, acceptance of resignations and granting leaves of absence.

The request of C. C. Stewart, instructor of English and public speaking in the high school and junior college, for release from his contract at the end of the present semester in order that he might accept a position with the Pasadena schools, was granted by the board and a letter of regret was ordered sent to the faculty member. The position in Pasadena, it was stated, would lead to the supervision of the city school there. Stewart stated the salary at the new location was less than what he is being paid in Santa Ana, but that he felt the future held greater possibilities.

Continuation of a franchise for operation of a concession stand at the high school by the Engineering club was granted for the term of the present school year, after a request from the club was presented with the approval and endorsement of Principal D. K. Hammond, who stated that the club conducted matters in a very business-like way and devoted their profits to various projects of the club after donating 15 per cent to the student body.

The executive committee of the junior college was authorized to spend funds of that body for the purchase of gold footballs for members of the championship football team.

Grant Full Salary

Owing to the loyal faithful services of Walter Scott, a high school faculty member, the board made a special order granting full salary for the time he was required to be away during the illness and death of his mother. It was pointed out that the instructor had put in much overtime in the past.

Because of the three-month leave of absence of Miss Lillian Fitts, home economics instructor, required by poor health, the board voted to transfer Mrs. Robert Speed from the Julia Lathrop school to take up Miss Fitts' duties and elected Miss Elsa Carlson as substitute for the three-month period.

Discussion of proposed student center at the junior college, occupied the attention of board members for a period, but decision was postponed until the next meeting of the board.

Members of the board and their families were invited to attend the dinner in the Jefferson school tomorrow night, in connection with the annual school fair.

Purchase of equipment authorized by the board last night were as follows: One dozen microscopes for the junior college science department, the order to be equally divided between the Braun corporation and the Western Scientific company, at a price of $88.35 each, with an allowance of $15 for old equipment to be traded in; three dozen bent wood guest chairs, at $2.90 each, for use in Fremont, Edison and Logan schools; motor-mower for cutting school lawns, $300; Elton lawn renovator, $295; typewriter, with machines in the commercial department and school offices, which have been in service for three years, to be traded in at $30 for new machines at a price of $70 each.

To Hire New Attendant

The board authorized the employment of a woman attendant in the Frances Willard junior high school to supplement the present staff of two men in caring properly for the building and rest rooms.

The board voted to reconsider previous action and follow the recommendations of the supervising architects regarding a roof for McKinley school. A saving of over $300 will be effected.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Substantial rallying tendencies developed in curb stocks around noon today after the market had moved erratically through the early trading hours. The volume was moderate and gains of one to more than a dozen points were established in leading issues at mid-session.

Active profit taking continued in various sections of the list and the advance was somewhat tentative. The market was in evidence in the closing sessions of last week. Nevertheless, the list as a whole displayed a more confident tone.

Standard Oil and Light advanced more than 10 points in heavy trading. The advance was due to strength in leading utility shares on the stock exchange, while St. Regis paper, Middle West utilities, American Power and Light, American Electric Bond and Share were taken in large lots above their previous closing levels.

Most of the industrial issues moved within a comparatively narrow range. The active investment trust and similar issues displayed marked irregularity. Sentiment was somewhat disturbed by a further break in Fox Theater A, which broke to further low ground for the year under the 10 level on reports of an impending recapitalization of the Fox properties.

Lehman corporation was a strong spot in the investment issues, while Marine Midland and Blue Ridge corporation were under pressure. Newmont was a strong feature in the mining issues, while Humble featured the oil with a sharp recovery from its early low.

Buying orders accumulated in substantial volume overnight, reflecting investment buying attracted by moderate declines in the main body of stocks in yesterday's session.

Just at this point Dick's hands got to trembling with excitement. The first thing they knew the flash went off. Dick had accidentally touched the ends of the wire together.

As the boys could not reset the apparatus, and I had no desire to under the circumstances, they rolled up in their blankets and went to sleep. They were awakened by a thumping noise against the car.

Throwing on their hand light they found they were surrounded by several lions. One big lioness stepped on the running board and then actually got up into the front seat.

"I bet it is the first time anyone ever had a lion try to drive his motor car!" said Dave.

For an hour or so the thrills continued; and knowing boys, I think they were thrills all right. The lions stood up and peered in through the screen. One tried to chew up the tires; and several took to chewing the camera tripod. But there was no violence in the true sense. Every time a lion felt the pangs of hunger he went over to the zebra and had a snack.

All three Scouts agreed it was the greatest night they had ever spent. And while they were pretty well scared at times, they wouldn't take a million dollars for the experience.

I developed their flashlight after breakfast. It proved their point. And it was one of the finest and clearest flashlight pictures of a lion I have ever printed.

During the following weeks our black porters had the time of their lives. They seemed to understand the Boy Scouts and the Scouts certainly understood the natives. It seemed to me that there was never an hour went by that the whole camp did not break out into roars of laughter over some new trick that our tireless young visitors had pulled off.

I had a sample of the Boy Scout's efficiency in woodcraft when we ran into a big bunch of baboons one afternoon down near the Guremetti river. Doug spotted the animals when they flitted across our path and hid in some bushes at

L. A. PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—(UP)—U. S. D. A. Produce—Fruit and produce continued to move today in about the same volume as yesterday's with lighter receipts continuing in most lines. The volume was sufficient to meet the demand and prices continued about steady. The prices market showed little change.

Idaho Jonathans sold as low as $1.00 a bushel basket on small and poor grade stock. Demand for avocados was broken and together with more liberal receipts dealers were able to reduce prices on loose stock. Purses jobbed at 60-65c on large sizes. Pears brought 50-55c per lb.

Receipts of bunched vegetables continued on liberal supply with carrots jobbing for 25-30c per dozen. Local cabbage was at $1.00 per crate. Venice celery was heavy played around 25-30c per dozen. A day's quality has improved and the market is firm at $2.25-$2.50 on 4-4 1/2 dozen crates.

The cranberry market was firm with Eastern stock bringing $2.25-$2.50 per half barrel and $4.75-$5.00 per quarter barrel. Oregon, half-barrel, brought $3.75 with 1-3 barrels selling at $5.25.

San Diego cucumbers ranged from $2.50-$4.00 per lb. depending on quality.

The lettuce market was slightly weaker with slow demand; Loma and Oceanside dry pack 4-dozen brought $2.50-$2.75 with a few at $3.00.

Peas were weaker with receipts lighter and demand slow. Imperial Valley stock brought 10-12c per lb. best stock; Ventura and San Joaquin county peas brought 15-16c per lb.

The tomato market was firm on good stock with wide range in quality and prices. Best local stock brought at $2.00-$2.25 per lb. with No. 2s at $1.50-$1.75. San Diego stock brought $2.75-$3.00 per lb.

CHAMP DOG FLYER

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 10.—George Zinn claims to have the champion flying dog in the United States. King Kokolola is the dog's name, and it is eight months old.

The dog has flown more than 1000 miles with Zinn and is so alarmed that he makes his home in one of the hangars at Central Airport.

Like the old-fashioned redskin of the western plains the three boys worked around and skillfully stalked their quarry. Our Wacoona guide and Bukari saw the fun in the chase and got my permission to join in.

When the Scouts and the two blacks had the baboons surrounded, Doug had them bewildered the animals by yelling. Then he jumped into the bushes and caught a baboon with his bare hands. Quite a trick, when one considers that these were thoroughly wild animals.

Doug got pretty badly bitten in the excitement, but he emerged with a frightened baboon yelling its head off. He took his pet back to camp in a petrol box and set about taming him. But he had his hands full. And I think we were all relieved when the captive chewed his rope through that night and rejoined his jungle brothers.

When the time came for us to say goodbye to Dave, Dick and Doug, Osa and I realized what they had meant to us in brightening up the routine of our work. It was one of the thousands of goodbyes we have had in our wandering life that we really felt.

If we were sorry to see them leave, our porters seemed much more so. After all, our black men were just boys at heart, and the Scouts had given them a new flavor in life.

Dick says he is going to be a diplomat when he grows up. (He is one now.) Dave is going to be a lawyer. (He can argue pretty effectively already.) Doug will be a doctor. (He has just the personality for a successful one.) But whatever they are, I bet my bottom dollar those three lads are going to succeed. And if they are the kind of men our Boy Scout organization is turning out all over the United States, then we are making a great national mistake in not getting the whole U. S. government behind it!

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Active issues on the bond market fluctuated irregularly after an early display of steadiness today. A firmer tone in the money market as a result of the midmonth treasury requirements and the demand for funds for holiday use has halted, temporarily at least, the recent advance in fixed interest security values.

However, price changes were confined to slight fractions in most cases.

Convertible bonds were highly irregular as a result of the action of the stock market and American Telephone 4 1/2s sold off more than a point, while American International 5 1/2s advanced a point. International Telephone 4 1/2s were steady around the previous closing levels.

Broad trading in rails again marked the market list, with such issues as Missouri Pacific 4s, St. Louis San Francisco 4 1/2s, Chicago Great West, and Erie 4s were prominent. Legal and high grade industrials and utilities showed little change.

A weak tone came into the United States government list. Treasury 4 1/2s were bid up 5-32nds, while the 4 1/2s were turned over moderately around Tuesday's closing levels. Foreign obligations were quiet and irregular.

THE NEBBS—Revenge is Sweet

WHERE WE HAVE THE BANKER WHO AFTER ALL IS JUST A WIRELING OF THE MAN HIGHER UP.

JUST HOW BIG AND RICH DO YOU HAVE TO BE BEFORE YOU DON'T HAVE TO HAVE A BOSS?

IF LIKE TO HAVE BEEN THERE WHEN THE MAMMOTH PEOPLE TURNED THEM DOWN THAT WAS A BODY BLOW ALL RIGHT.

YES, THIS FELLOW, JONES, DIDN'T SEEM TO ENJOY IT AT ALL AND THE MAMMOTH PEOPLE TELL ME IT'S A GREAT PICTURE.

THE INDEPENDENT PICTURE PEOPLE THAT ARE GOING TO DISTRIBUTE THE PICTURE FOR THEM IS A SMALL COMPANY WITH NO CAPITAL—THEY MAY GET THEIR MONEY BACK BUT IT WILL BE A LONG PULL IT WON'T BE BY JANUARY SECOND THAT'S A CINCH.

I'M JUST LOOKING FOR THE TIME WHEN I CAN COME OUT IN THE OPEN AND SHOW THIS IMBECILE AND HIS DAUGHTER THAT CALED RENROD NEVER FORGETS—HIS DAUGHTER LEFT ME AT THE ALTAR—I'LL LEAVE HIM AT THE POOR HOUSE.

NEEDS HAS GOT HIMSELF INTO A TRAP AND IT LOOKS AS IF HE CAN'T GET OUT—WELL, FOLKS, WHY SHOULD HE?—IT ALMOST LOOKS LIKE HE SET IT FOR HIMSELF.

EVENING SALUTATION

"Let us dream. We begin with dreams, we end with dreams and when dreams are no more we shall be animals again."
—Will Durant.

THOSE ANCESTORS

Now comes Henry Fairfield Osborne, director of the American Museum of Natural History, a very distinguished zoologist and paleontologist, and declares that the theory that man descended from a form of another animal is absolutely ridiculous.

He declares that the ape man is a myth, and that men have been men such as they are ever since their origin. We do not know whether to be pleased or sorry. We had up to this time comforted ourselves that we had made some real progress since the beginning, but now we are not so certain of it. It is unfortunate that William Jennings Bryan is not here to utilize the opinions of Dr. Osborne to support his argument.

Of course, we do not suppose that necessarily the opinions of people will generally change by this one declaration. There will be many check-mats of Dr. Osborne's findings, and it will be a contest between the apes and the anti-apes.
This contest, of course, has been going on for some time, but now the anti-apes can point to a little more support for their position.

We do not know whether we know anything or not until we have seen the paper for that day and read the discoveries of sciences and the opinions of courts. It is easier, however, today for the people to harmonize themselves with any new discovery or theory, because they have been practicing more in recent years the fine art of changing their minds than they used to do.

And by the way, it is worth noting that these people who have discovered the evidence which seems to disprove the ape theory of the origin of men are not the ones who were so opposed to that idea that they wrapped a cloak of ignorance about themselves, but those intelligent and open-minded individuals who accepted it and then proceeded along their customary habit of learning and investigating and unlearning and learning again.

"Rich, Kill Wife and Self," says a headline in a Chicago newspaper. At last something that wasn't blamed on the stock market.

ANOTHER PROPOSED SOLON

It appears that Joseph R. Grundy may be appointed as junior senator from Pennsylvania by Governor Fisher.

Already there is opposition developing to Grundy as a member of the United States Senate. Grundy is a manufacturer. He produces his wool yarn which is protected by a compensatory duty and a high ad valorem duty. He has been lobbying in Washington for various forms of tariff.

Grundy referred sometime ago to Western states as being "backward," and suggested that their Senators should "talk darn small." He has declared that these states did not pay enough toward the upkeep of the government to cover the cost of collection. Grundy is particularly interested in revenue, and revenue in those particular things in which he is interested. But in this he does not differ from most men. He is simply more open and flagrant about it.

It is going to be exceedingly difficult for the United States Senate to get the kind of a man from the state of Pennsylvania whom the majority of them believe should represent any state in the Senate.

Maybe they can't find that kind of men in Pennsylvania, or if they are there, they have been fighting the politicians so that the governor will not appoint one of them as United States Senator, and the politicians will see that such men are not elected. It may result in some of our states being without representation at all in the Senate unless the Senate backs down and says, "Send them on, the worse the better." We should hate to see it. It is bad enough to have such men as Grundy out on the sidelines. It is always a calamity to let them in as some of the players.

AN ODISIOUS COMPARISON

President-elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico was asked in New York yesterday if they were controlling banditry down in Mexico. He replied by asking if they controlled banditry in Chicago, and then added that Mexico is one of the safest places in the world, even in its most isolated districts.

We can vouch for that as far as Mexico City is concerned. They did not have guards and steel armored cars to remove cash from one bank to another in that city. We saw men carrying it in bags on the open street. Quite a contrast to the condition of affairs in our cities.

We may call some countries backward, but there are some things in which we have progressed where we would be in better condition if we would remain stagnant.

DRYING WASHINGTON

News comes from Washington that yesterday persons faced the Police Court, charged with being intoxicated. We have had news that city repeatedly lately indicating that they are doing away with liquor in our national capital.

Apparently they are doing away with it all at once. This is the largest number that ever appeared in the Police Court there for intoxication in one day.

The President has a real man-sized job in the city of Washington alone.

THE DAY OF THE ENGINEER

The United States and Mexico are to have engineers in the presidency. Ortiz Rubio, the president-elect of Mexico, has been one of the leading civil engineers of that country. This is a new development in the art of statecraft. We have had lawyers, political scientists, and soldiers in the chief executive places of the government. The election of Mr. Hoover here in the United States and of Senor Rubio in Mexico indicates that the practical man of affairs is to have his inning.

There is still, of course, a place for the legalist and the political scientist in the management of states. But this machine age, and the increasing emphasis on manufacture and trade in government, calls for the trained practical man as never before. Such men have found places in all branches of our governments as subordinates. There is no reason why they should not rise to the places of executive power.
Government activities have become extensively varied. It was once thought that the government which governed the least was the best government. To protect the individual in his own pursuit of happiness and prosperity was supposed to be the sole function of government.
That has all been changed by the increasing complexity and interdependence of human society.

The growth of steam and electric power has revolutionized society. Great massing of capital has become necessary to carry on industry.
The increasing power of this massed capital has had to be controlled to protect the masses from its possible tyranny. All this calls for the wisdom of the engineer. So it has become necessary to draft into government control, not only the student of diplomacy, of international commerce, of political science, but also the man who can understand and manipulate the great physical forces which modern invention and ingenuity have put into their hands.

It used to be a problem to hang a picture straight
—now it's O. K. even if it's upside down.

REP. FORT'S RESOLUTION

Representative Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, is proposing by resolution in Congress to call the members of Congress to account when they have exceeded proper limits in debate in personal attacks and declarations concerning people.

One of the papers says that the bill would make the house truthful. It might help to make it cautious, but it is the Almighty's position to make it truthful. We have thought sometimes that people worked to get elected to Congress in order that they might have the opportunity to tell just exactly what they thought about some people without being called to account.
Mr. Fort would destroy all attractiveness for such ambitious politicians.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

The weather man seems to be paying attention to Northern California just at present. This state is too large for him to water it all at once.

While probably the North has not yet had enough, we certainly would like to have that stream turned on here.

Television Some Day, But Don't Sit Waiting

San Francisco Chronicle

Most optimistic of all human beings is the inventor. Always he is certain of the correctness of his vision, and generally success lies right around the next corner. Probably it is fortunate that it is so, because enthusiasm combined with genius is a hard thing to beat.

So now we read that television is "ready for the home." Maybe. And maybe not. Great engineers tell us that some day we will use television. The big corporations that deal with such things have the best brains that they can buy busy in their laboratories working on the interesting problem.
The reports that come out from these laboratories are like the news from the football huddle—not much. Scientists are not strong on public proposition.

Some day, probably, we will have television.
But, like all inventions, it has a long course of study and experiment before it. Meanwhile, none will be so foolish as to sacrifice the pleasures of the telephone, the radio and other joys that we have with us to sit back and wait for the fulfillment of the television dream. When it materializes we will welcome it cordially, but until that happy day arrives we will all enjoy the realities that we already possess.

This Tail Can't Wag Dog

Pasadena Star-News

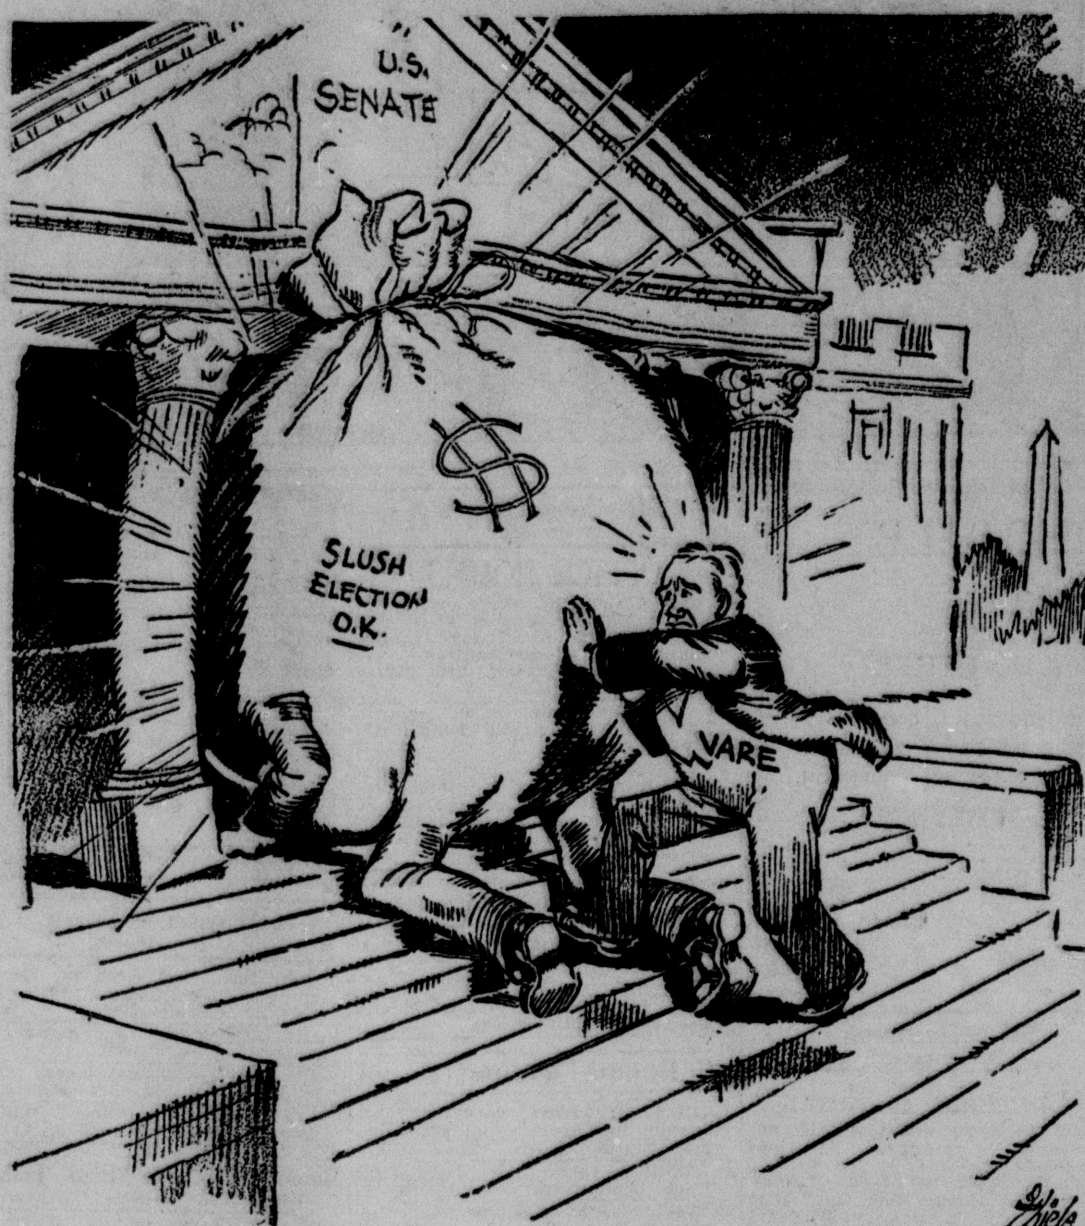

On the first reading page of the Literary Digest of December 7, there is a cartoon reproduced from the Los Angeles Times, made by Cartoonist Gale.
It is one of the most striking cartoons inspired by the recent crash in the stock-market. It represents a massive bulldog with front feet on one coast and rear feet on the other coast and its body stretching clear across the United States, labeled "American Business." The dog has a tiny tail labeled "Wall Street." And under this are these words:
"No tail can wag this dog." Cartoons of this clever type are impressive and help to keep the people cheerful and confident. It is very true that Wall Street does not "wag" the great empire of American business. A crash in Wall Street may cause the great economic ship to tremble momentarily, but like a great vessel passing over a small whirlpool, business and industry push right on into the quiet, untroubled waters. Wall Street is indeed only a small whirlpool.

Orange County Pariotic

Riverside Daily Press

The Santa Ana Register announces that Orange county expects to spend $14,000,000 in public or semi-public improvements during 1930. Those figures are certainly startling as compared with the rather modest totals reported by other Southern California counties. The estimate includes county and municipal expenditures on highways and buildings and some extensive improvements by public utilities. If the Orange county estimate is correct, that county is certainly going to help out President Hoover's program of improvements in a most substantial manner.

THE SPY

The owl in the elm tree yesterday
Was crying: "You-You! You-You!"
As he watched the little boy run away,
Which children should never do.
And he didn't believe the little boy's tale
That he only was taking a letter to mail
And came back straight
Through the garden gate
As his mother had told him to.

The owl was up in the oak last night
And nothing at all he said,
When the little boy didn't put out the light
And didn't climb into bed.
But watched through the window the passing cars
With bright white lights that gleamed like stars,
And the round red moon
Like a great balloon
That hung in the skies overhead.

The owl was up in the birch last week,
His gaze on the pane was bent,
A chuckle came out of his gaping beak,
For he knows where those cookies went!
And when he shrieked in the dead of night,
Somebody shuddered in stark affright,
For somebody heard
The sinister bird,
And knew just what he meant.

The owl is hidden away today
In his home in the distant dell
Where the trees are mossy and grim and gray
And the scampering chipmunks dwell.
He sits and stares at the frozen ground,
And doesn't utter a single sound;
He's as mute and dumb
As the dead and dumb;
But gee! if he'd ever tell!

Speed In Philadelphia

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Co-operation, like charity, is thrice given if quickly given.
So reasoned Philadelphia, the first city to contribute to the President's "release prosperity" program its quota of definite construction plans.

The Mayor of Philadelphia, at a preliminary meeting of the Industrial Relations Committee, announced that his city would go ahead at once with work amounting to approximately $60,000,- 000. This, the city engineer estimates, will give employment to 60,000 workers.

Besides public officials, nearly one hundred of Philadelphia's prominent manufacturers, public service heads, and merchants attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting and agreed to cooperate. It is believed that the industries which they represent will furnish, if necessary, even more jobs for the jobless than the City itself.

The meeting of the Industrial Relations Committee was "hurriedly called to make a quick response to Mr. Hoover's summons." From now on, some of the hoary jokes about Philadelphia's slowness may well be retired, and honorable mention given to her prompt demonstration of "brotherly love."

But why was the action so prompt? The answer to that question brings us to the chief point of the whole story.

Philadelphia responded immediately to the President's call because for years she had been making definite plans for precisely such action, in precisely such emergency. Last summer two of her citizens, Morris E. Leeds and Otto T. Mallory, attended the Round Table on Planned Prosperity at the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, which dealt mainly with the program which the President is now carrying out. Soon thereafter, the Industrial Relations Committee of Philadelphia, under the enlightened, aggressive and persistent guidance of Mr. Leeds and Mr. Mallory, published a "Program for the Regularization of Employment and the Decrease of Unemployment in Philadelphia." That program is timely, sound, definite, practical. Every city in the country should get a copy and use it.

It is one answer to the question: Precisely what can MY city do in response to the President's call?
(Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

This morning I woke up and ma was calling me as if it wasent the first time, and I thawt, Aw heck, I dont feel like getting up this morning just for skool.

Wich I dont hardly any morning, ony this morning even more, and I thawt, Well G, maybe if she thinks Im sleeping unusual hard, maybe she'll think I need more sleep and maybe at least I can stay home from skool this morning, maybe.

And I kepp on not ansering, and ma called me 2 more times and came running up in my room sounding like somebody mad, and I kepp my eyes shut as if I thawt
I was still asleep, ma saying, My lands he's as unconcious as the rock of Jibraltar.

And she called me twice more and shook me once without having any effect, saying, Well my goodness Ive heard about people sleeping soundly but this exceeds all expectations, anybody that can sleep like that must need the sleep.
Me thinking, G, gosh, its working.

Wich just then pop came in, saying, Whats it all about, does somebody seem to have difficulty in arising?

Meaning me, and ma sed, He wont wake up, he's sleeping like the bottom of a well. If he's as tired as all that, perhaps we better let him sleep, she sed.

Me thinking, G, herry. And pop shook me 2 hard shakes and they didnt do anything but almost make me snore, and pop sed, It looks to me very much like a case of sleepibus agnus poribus.

What in the world are you tawk-ing about? ma sed, and pop sed, its nuthin serious, just get me a glass of ice water and Ill have him awake in no time at all. Thats the cure for sleepibus agnus poribus, you just pore a glass of ordinary ice water inside the patients pidnamers and the cure is so sudden its often worse than the disease, he sed.

Me thinking, Good nite, heck.
And I quick opened one eye, saying, Did anybody call me?
O, hardly anybody, pop sed.
And he gave me two fast slaps some place, saying, Get up out of that dubble quick.
Wich I did.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

FACT-THINKING

Yesterday I spoke of the near-universal tendency of human beings to think in terms of personal wishes instead of impersonal facts.

Today I want to present H. A.
Overstreet's convincing argument, from his About Ourselves or Psychology for Normal People, that the advance of civilization to date and the hope of the advance of civilization in the future are tied closely to the narrowing of the area of wish-thinking and the enlarging of the area of fact-finding.

Mr. Overstreet discusses six points that mark humanity's progress away from wish-thinking toward fact-finding. They are:

First, the invention of tools.

Man cannot dream or pray or wish a tool into existence. When man faces the problem of a task that needs to be done and set out to fashion a tool for the task, he must face realities. After he has made a tool, nothing that he wishes about the tool will change its actual operation. And so tool-making has been always an adventure in fact-thinking rather than wish-thinking.

Second, the invention of mathematics.

When man invented mathematics, there was one region of life from which guess-work was forever exiled. Two plus two will forever equal four even if the majority wishes it might equal five.

Third, Socrates's gospel of definition.

Socrates wrote a great chapter in human history when he devoted his life to the task of getting people to define their terms, to escape from the wool and wilderness of a hundred and one uncertain meanings for the words they used, to stop the futility of fuzzy thinking, to put clarity in the place of confusion.

Fourth, Plato's quest for law in the midst of incidents.
Plato did humanity a good turn by insisting that the important thing is not to sit on the side lines and look at the human show as if it were a mass of unrelated incidents, but to look beneath the surface of incidents to find the permanent in the shifting, the single law that runs like a thread through the shifting facts. When you know that a law is at work, you are less likely to think you can wish a fact out of existence.

Fifth, Aristotle's effort to get man to think logically.
Aristotle wanted men to stop thinking in a circle; he wanted them to think in a straight line, to let one fact lead on to another, to stop the gaps that appear in so much of man's thinking, to master the art of reasoning. There is no place in the authentic art of reason for putting wishes in the place of facts.

Sixth, the techniques of the laboratory.

The essence of the laboratory technique is the putting of all theories to the test of experiment, to keep on experimenting until we are sure no fact has been missed, and so to perfect the testing of a theory that others can, if they will, prove for themselves what experiment has shown about the theory in question.

Great citizens and great civilizations follow in the wake of these six achievements in the art of reasoning.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

OLD DAYS

When I was a little boy in school the teacher used to begin the day by having us sing an inspirational song, or a hymn. Then she read to us from the Bible, a brief selection. Next she recited a short verse that carried a message of some sort to such hard-headed little urchins as we were.

We used to sing, "Pull for the shore, sailor," with might and main.
And, "Let our hearts be always cheerful," and when we sang, "I know a school for jolly boys and you'll find them hard to beat," the volume of noise that rose from out fifty-odd throats was enough to lift the roof.

Having expended a lot of energy and expressed our sincere desire to be valiant in righteous causes in vociferous song we were called upon to recite some gem we had stored on previous occasion. One I remember very well. It ended with the challenging lines.

"All that you do, do with your might. Things done by halves are never done right." That was more than forty years ago but only yesterday I found myself back on that long bench swinging my heels and chanting those lines. The voice of the teacher spoke to me out of the mist of the years and I did the job in hand very carefully, very thoroughly and felt warm and comfortable inside.

We are inclined these days to neglect old ways, old ideas because they are old. That is, to my mind, a grave mistake. We must carry on through the generations all that we have found to be good. We may add our little grain of wisdom and truth if we have been fortunate enough to have garnered any but we must not drop the painfully harvested good of the older days.

It helps a child to begin the day well. If he can sing with all his heart, if he can free some of the longing that is in him in song, vociferous though it may be, it relieves him tremendously and frees the spirit of him. If he recites some good poem or some precious bit of prose that pleases him, it gives him a great lift for the day's work. A happy beginning makes for a successful ending every time.

Thoroughness, work to a standard, honesty in effort and sincerity in workmanship are old, old ideas but they are the very foundation stones of worth while achievement.
Goodness is a very, very old idea which is most fortunate for the human race.

Then let's not be afraid to be called old fashioned because we cling to the school virtues. We can carry them along whatever else we may leave behind. The new education is not new in principle.
It is new in method, new in application, new in viewpoint but it is not new in the fundamentals of righteousness. They are eternal.

VALLEY FORGE

On Dec. 11, 1777, General George Washington's army went into winter quarters at Valley Forge, Pa.
Occupation of Valley Forge came after the battles of Brandywine and Germtown and the encampment of the British in Philadelphia.
Washington chose Valley Forge partly for its defensibility and partly to protect Congress, then in session at York, Pa.

Due to incapacity of the quartermaster-general and the commissary department, the men were left without adequate shelter, food or clothing, and in consequences suffered terrible hardship, many dying of cold and starvation.

It was at Valley Forge, however, that Baron Steuben trained, disciplined and reorganized the army, and thus enabled it to fight with greater efficiency in later campaigns.

About 450 acres of the original camp ground has been converted into Valley Forge Park, containing Washington's headquarters and other historic landmarks that have been preserved or restored.

"I am going to my future father-in-law. I have just seen in the

"You want to help him?"
"No, I want to break off the engagement."—Faun, Vienna.

ONE IN RESERVE

MARIE: If you could have two wishes, what would they be?
VIOLE: Well, I'd wish for a husband.
MARIE: That's one.
VIOLE: And then I'd save the other till I saw how he turned out.
